HAIR LIKE RUTH'S IN CAR STATE CHEMIST SAYS

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1947

Bradford Defeat Seen If Tax Wins

A Cambridge business man predicted today that Gov. Bradford and many Republicans will pay the penalty by defeat in the 1948 elections if the 2 per cent sales tax is enacted. Harry J. Dowd of Brookline, operator of a paper business in Cambridge and spokesman for the Boston Executives' Ass'n declared the State could save a lot of money by businesslike economies instead of asking for new taxation.

"To call this sales tax a 'school tax' is just as phony as lend-lease was in the war," declared Dowd.

"A two per cent sales tax doesn't mean anything to me but it does to people with big families."

Saying Bradford was elected on a program of economy, Dowd argued the Governor was "wrong to go after a $59,300,000 in new taxes when we have only a $17,000,000 deficit."

When a member of the taxation committee asked Dowd what economies he could propose, Dowd said he was not familiar enough with the State House to name them offhand.

"However," he added, "you could make economies in the $400,000 the State pays in outside rentals. I find that a lot of executive sessions of your committees are dinner meetings in the Parker House. I don't think the boys pay for that themselves."

Vinson Grad of Haverhill, representing the Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, told the committee the proposed tax was a two-edged sword which, on the one hand, would cut down the purchasing power of the people by two per cent and on the other would reduce the business of Massachusetts merchants now obtained from outside the State.

Grad estimated that 25 per cent of the gross retail business in Haverhill came from outside Massachusetts.

The Massachusetts Women's Committee opposed to sales tax challenged Gov. Bradford's estimate that the proposed legislation would impose yearly a levy of only $9 on each average Massachusetts family.

In a statement, the committee said a statistical analysis showed that it would cost an average family of five $40 a year.

"If the State plans to raise 34 million dollars by this tax and there are 4,317,721 people in Massachusetts then by division a sales tax would cost each person $8 per year and not the $9 per family which the Governor has repeatedly stated publicly.

"Thus," the committee added, "a family of five would pay $40 per year for a sales tax."

Rep. John W. Vaughan of Belmont opposed the sales tax as unfair. He said he had given the committee on taxation a "way out" in his bill to license off-track betting and wagering on sports such as baseball, football, hockey and boxing.

Vaughan said one senator had called his proposition unmoral and within 10 minutes went down and placed a bet on a horse. He said that state records disclose that $480,000,000 is bet in off-track wagers in this state.

"Any policeman in Scollay sq. will tell you that twice as much money is bet on the numbers every day than is wagered on horses and dogs," Vaughan told the committee.

The Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Ass'ns declared itself today in favor of Gov. Bradford's request for a legislative recess commission to study possibilities of reduction of government costs.

May Denies Pressure On Army

By CHARLES B. SEIB

WASHINGTON, May 23 (INS)—Ex-Cong. Andrew J. May (D.) of Kentucky declared today he had too much respect for Army officers to pressure them in behalf of the Garsson munitions combine.

The former House military affairs committee chairman told the May-Garsson conspiracy trial jury that when he intervened with the War Dept. for Henry and Murray Garsson he was only seeking fair treatment for them.

A government witness, Sen. Levin H. Campbell, retired Army chief of ordnance, had testified that May put pressure on him in behalf of the Garssons.

Earlier, Judge Henry A. Schweinhaut defeated a defense attempt to show that former Sen. Mead (D.) of New York was using the May-Garsson case to promote his unsuccessful race for the New York governorship in 1946.

May also sought to refute testimony by Maj.-Gen. Alden White, chief of the Chemical warfare Service, that he ordered Waitt to report to him on a conference having to do with Garsson war plants.

"I never demanded anything. It was merely a request that he report to me and he did," May said.

Women's Jury Bill Passed by House

The Massachusetts House today passed and sent to the Senate a bill which compels women to serve on juries for the first time in the state's history.

Before final approval was given the measure an amendment was adopted to make jury duty mandatory for women, except for hospital workers, mothers of minor children and members of religious orders.

The bill approved yesterday by the House exempted women who served notice in writing that they did not want to serve. The amendment, however, makes jury duty mandatory.

Young Woman Found Dead In Merrimack

The body of a young woman with neck-length auburn hair, who had only 86 cents in her clothing, was found in the Merrimack river, off the Point Shore section of Amesbury, this morning.

Dr. Charles F. Warren, associate medical examiner, who said there appeared to be no immediate evidence of foul play, estimated it had been in the water but a few hours. He was to make a more detailed examination.

The victim was approximately 35 years of age, weighing 160 pounds and five feet six in height. She wore a three-quarter length windbreaker with plaid lining, a black dress and a red sweater. On her hands were black gloves.

She had no upper teeth and the back teeth of her lower jaw were missing.

Roxbury Mother Attacked, 4 Held

A 28-year-old Roxbury divorcee, mother of two children, was dragged into a vacant lot near her home today and criminally attacked by four Jamaica Plain men, all of whom were speedily rounded up by police. Two of the suspects are brothers.

Mrs. Mary E. Gallagher of Columbus ave. was attached after alighting from a street car and passing the lot, a short distance from her home near Egleston sq.

A quartet of youths were chatting at the corner and she passed without paying them attention. She was seized from the rear and dragged into the lot behind billboards.

Half-strangled, she tried unsuccessfully to fight off her attackers, two of whom sat on her shoulders. She was attacked twice before fighting free momentarily and screaming out.

People in a nearby house telephoned police, and Sgt. Eldred Adair of the Roxbury Crossing Station led two cruisers of police to the scene.

They found the young mother staggering out of the field and spread out to search the area.

One youth, 21, was found hiding in the corner of the lot, and two others, both aged 25, were captured in a running flight down Columbus ave.

The fourth man, 23, and one of the brothers, later was arrested at his home in Jamaica Plain as a result of an address and papers found in the pocket of an Army field jacket found at the scene.

Mrs. Gallagher was treated at City Hospital for lacerations, bruises and shock and then came to the Roxbury Crossing police station where she identified two men as those who attacked her.

She tentatively identified the other two as those who held her.

All four were held on charges of criminal attack and faced a police headquarters' lineup later.

Mrs. Gallagher had spent the evening at the home of a girl friend in Hyde Park and was returning home.

State Chemist Says Hair in Goodale Car Is Like Ruth's

By TOM RILEY and JAMES J. DELANEY

PLYMOUTH, May 23—Dr. Joseph T. Walker, State police chemist, testified in the murder trial of Charles Russell Goodale today that three light-brown red dish hairs found in the defendant's car were "consistent with the hair of Ruth McGurk." The climatic witness in the State's effort to prove that Goodale had left the Colonial Casino, in Onset, last July 27 with the Cambridge girl and had taken her in his car to her violation and death took the stand soon after the start of the afternoon session. He testified that the three hairs found in Goodale's car had been checked microscopically and compared with numerous samples taken from the head of the slain girl.

But the State expert, asked if he could state positively that the three hairs in question were those of the slain girl, said that "it is not possible to do so."

He said the three hairs also had been compared with samples taken from the heads of three other young women who had ridden in Goodale's car. They were Mrs. Natalie Bolles Nickerson, his former sweetheart; Geraldine Wallace, Lowell nurse, and Alice Louise MacArthur, all of whom have been State witnesses.

He gave a lengthy, technical discourse on the construction of human hair, explaining it consisted of three parts and comparing it in structure to a pencil. The innermost part, or medulla, he said, was similar to the lead of the pencil.

Outside that, he said, was the cortex, which was like the wood of a pencil. The outermost part, he continued, was the cuticle, similar to the enamel of a pencil.

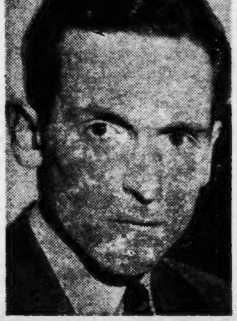
He said three-fourths of the samples of hair from the slain girl's head showed no medulla. Two of the three hairs found in the car had no medulla and the third only fragmentary evidence of medulla, he continued.

The hairs found in the car, he said, were definitely "human" and a "woman's." He described them as "light-brown with a reddish cast, especially at the tip ends."

Cross-examined by Atty. Herbert F. Callahan, he said all three hairs found in the car had roots and showed signs of cutting at the tips.

Bitter clashes between opposing counsel and Judge Goldberg marked the opening of today's session.

Two State Police lieutenants, Harold J. Peloquin and John N. Sullivan, were called as the first witnesses. The arguments of counsel were so frequent over the repeated objections of Atty. Callahan to Dist. Atty. Dewing's questions that the judge was forced to call 10 bench conferences in the first hour.



DR. JOSEPH T. WALKER
Not Sure Hair in Car Was Ruth's

MRS. NATALIE BOLLES NICKERSON, WAREHAM BRIDE
Goodale's Former Sweetheart Testified Against Him

Most of the clashes concerned the admissibility of testimony by Lt. Sullivan with reference to Goodale's date with Geraldine Wallace, Lowell nurse, on July 20, seven days before Ruth McGurk disappeared.

The arguments became so heated at one time that Judge Goldberg remarked: "I was not present at the interview this police officer had with the defendant. I guess we'll have to call a series of bench conferences on each question."

On another occasion Judge Goldberg rephrased a question by Dewing and Callahan rose to his feet to ask: "Will Your Honor save my exception to Your Honor's question?"

The State assailed Goodale's story that he spent the nights of July 30 and 31 last year sleeping in the waiting room at South Station in Boston, through the testimony of two special officers of the Boston Terminal co.

Daniel Hurley, now a Boston police officer, and Albert L. Tracy testified they both were on duty at South Station on those nights from midnight to 8 a. m. They said their duties included questioning all persons in the waiting room during those hours.

Both said they had been shown pictures of Goodale some time last August and testified they had not seen him in the station on either of those nights.

Lt. Sullivan was on the stand throughout most of the morning session, undergoing a lengthy cross-examination by Atty. Callahan. His testimony revealed Goodale had told him that the girl he was with on the night Ruth McGurk disappeared was a Boston girl.

Sullivan said Goodale told him that after leaving the King Midas, he drove the girl to Onset, asked her for a date at some later time and then left her. The officer said the defendant told him he wasn't interested in a date that night because the drinks he had at the King Midas made him ill. He testified Goodale said he went directly home.

The detective said he had searched the Goodale home and had taken some of the defendant's clothing for examination. But, he revealed, the examination disclosed no stains or anything of value to the State.

The officer said Goodale did not tell him, but he learned from another source, that when the defendant went home he rubbed sunburn lotion on his mother's back and then went to bed.

Lt. Sullivan denied Goodale was kept up all night for questioning at Wareham before he was arrested on suspicion of murder.

He said the Onset youth was questioned "intermittently" during the night and was allowed to sleep from 2:30 or 3:00 a. m. to about 6 a. m.

Goodale was taken to the Carver reservoir where Ruth's body had been found and was questioned there on Monday, Aug. 5, Sullivan testified. Later that day he was taken to Brockton, where he was viewed by Ruth Jefferson and Helen Leary, the slain girl's vacation chums, to whom she confided she was going "out with Frank" when she left the dance the night she disappeared.

"No identification of the defendant was made by the girls?" Callhan asked.

"No positive identification," the witness answered.

"No identification at all?" the defense counsel repeated.

"No," Sullivan admitted.

The long-awaited hair testimony was coming after a feverish day during which Defense Atty. Herbert F. Callahan twice asked Judge Lewis Goldberg to declare a mistrial and twice was denied.

Testimony by Goodale's former sweetheart, Natalie Bolles of Wareham, now Mrs. Nathan Nickerson, that Goodale took her by the throat and tried to choke her, caused these moves by Callahan, who claimed the story was inadmissible.

The attractive, blonde Mrs. Nickerson and two other young women—Virginia Kostyna, a beautiful Brockton girl, and Geraldine Wallace, a Lowell graduate nurse—told the jury that Goodale used the nickname "Frank."

This was the name which witnesses testified Ruth had said was that of her escort at the Colonial Casino on the night of last July 27, when she left the Onset dance

TESTIMONY that Charles Russell Goodale used the name "Frank" on occasions was given to the jury by Virginia Kostyna of Brockton, shown at Plymouth Courthouse after testifying. She was one of four witnesses to give similar evidence in connection with his use of that name. Virginia stated that she met the defendant a year ago last April. He told her if she didn't like the name of Russell she could call him Frank.

TODAY'S TESTIMONY

Russ's Trial Marked By Violent Clashes

PLYMOUTH, May 23—Sessions resumed at 9:42 a. m. today in the 10th day of the Goodale murder trial.

Shortly after court opened Atty. Bolles Nickerson. The first was: Callahan made motions concerning yesterday's testimony in answer to questions asked of Natalie Q—And at the time he told you that, you started to go out with other young men, did you not. A—That was not my reason; I did not care for his actions.

Callahan—I ask that answer be stricken from the records as being irresponsive to question asked. Also the question and answer:

'Q—After he told you he was not in a position to marry, that you would have to wait long, you broke off relations. A—That wasn't the reason. I ask that answer be also stricken from the record as not responsive to question asked.

Callahan then paused for several moments and Judge Goldberg, believing that Callahan had completed his motion said: "Motion is denied."

LT. JOHN N. SULLIVAN
Testimony Brings Clashes

Callahan—Your honor, I have not finished my motion.

Judge Goldberg—Mr. Callahan, are you making these as individual motions or as one whole motion.

Callahan—As individual motions.

Callahan then referred to another question in the record, page 929: Q—And then when he told you that, why, you started to go around with other young men. A—That isn't the reason.

Callahan then informed the court that was his motion.

Judge Goldberg—Mr. Callahan, you did not ask to have those answers stricken from the record yesterday as not being responsive. Motions denied individually.

Callahan—Save my exceptions.

Judge Goldberg—Yes, insofar as your rights to save exceptions they will be.

HAROLD J. PELOQUIN

The first witness was State Police Lt. Harold J. Peloquin.

Q—On Aug. 1, as result of information you received, did you have this message (pointing to State Police manifold) sent out over State Police teletype. A—Yes.

Q—Did you interview the occupants of that car. A—Yes.

Q—In the message (Dewing then read from the manifold) a person named Roy Jansen has a fellow named Frank riding with him.

Callahan objected and a bench conference was called.

Several other questions were asked and objected to by Callahan. Some were permitted to remain.

Callahan—I ask that the questions admitted in this testimony be excluded.

Judge Goldberg—Mr. Callahan,

Chase, Sanborn Coffee Firm To Leave N. E.

One of Boston's largest and oldest coffee firms, famed in the clipper-ship era, has notified its employes it is moving out of New England on July 1.

Founded in Boston 85 years ago, Chase and Sanborn will close its entire plant, occupying a third of a block on High st.

The number of employes has been dwindling in recent years but some 200 will be affected by the shut-down.

The firm has a large factory in Chicago which it opened in 1923 and a few of the employes will be transferred there or to other posts in companies owned by Standard Brands, the parent organization for Chase and Sanborn.

The firm's history is interwoven with New England tradition. Founders were Caleb Chase and James S. Sanborn. The original headquarters were opened in 1864 at 34 Broad st., and 13 years later moved to larger quarters at 85-87 Broad st. The following year the firm began shipping roasted coffee in sealed cans, first firm to introduce what is now common practice.

In 1879 the first automatic weighing machine used in the coffee trade was installed in the Boston plant. The firm moved to its present extensive quarters at 200 High st. and 141-149 Broad st. in 1903.

UN Group Blames Yugos for Greek Guerrilla Fighting

Geneva, May 23 (AP)—The Balkans investigating commission today held Yugoslavia primarily to blame for support of guerrilla warfare in Greece. The commission sent a formal report to the United Nations Security Council recommending that the UN condemn as a threat to peace the support of armed bands violating Balkan frontiers.

The section of the report critical of Yugoslavia said that Albania and Bulgaria were blameworthy to a lesser degree in supporting the guerrillas, and that conditions in Greece were a contributing factor. The vote on this section was 8 to 2, with Russia and Poland lined up against the United States, Britain, China, Belgium, Australia, Colombia, Brazil and Syria. France abstained.

The commission's general conclusion—that support of frontier-violating bands should be considered a menace to world peace, and subject to UN action — was reached on a 9 to 2 division, with Russia and Poland opposed.

The report said:

"The commission believes future cases of support of armed bands formed on the territory of one state crossing into the territory of another state should be considered by the Security Council as a threat to peace within the meaning of the charter of the United Nations."

Majority proposals were these:

1—That the governments of Greece, Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia do their utmost to establish normal good neighborly relations, to abstain from all action likely to increase or maintain tension and unrest in the border areas, to rigorously refrain from any support of elements in the neighboring countries aiming at the overthrow of lawful governments; or, should this resource fail, to appeal to the appropriate organ at the United Nations.

2—That the countries concerned should form frontier conventions along the lines of the Greek-Bulgarian convention of 1931.

3—That the Security Council should establish a commission or commissioner in the frontier area for a period of at least two years to report to the Council every three months the functions of the commission; to investigate further frontier violations, and to try to settle controversies on frontier violation and on the application of frontier conventions.

Such a commission or commissioner, the majority proposed, should have the right of access to Albania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece.

You Guessed It-- Rainy Week-End

The weatherman is holding out no hopes for a bright week-end, predicting today that the showers will continue today, tomorrow and Sunday.

Already this month 3.70 inches of rain have fallen in Boston, 1.32 inches above normal, and we still have a week to go. The present long rainy spell is due, according to the weatherman, to an area of high pressure off the coast which is holding back the small low pressure areas which usually pass over this section and move out to sea.

All in all, May has been one of the soggiest months in a long time. So far there have been only two days when we have had 100 per cent sunshine, two days with 98 per cent sunshine, one day with 87 per cent and one day with seven minutes of sun. Otherwise, gray clouds have hung over the section, most of the time dripping rain.

Bay State 2d Lowest In Plane Ownership

Massachusetts is tied with Alabama for second lowest place among the states with regard to airplanes per capita, Dr. Lynn L. Bollinger, head of aviation research at the Harvard School of Business Administration, reported today.

Bollinger, who added all of New England was lagging in the national plane parade, spoke at the fourth annual New England Aviation Conference at Hotel Statler.

The picture in this state may be improved, he said, by the work of the legislative commission on aviation, which has set the stage for airport improvements.

Delegates were told Russia now has the speediest jet plane in the world, one based on a German model, which has been clocked at 660 miles an hour. John Foster, Jr., aviation magazine editor and authority for the statement, also said the United States has dropped to a "third-rate air power."

Foster said he believed New England would have to build "more and better airparks" if it is to have its share of the "lucrative airborne tourist trade."

Establishment of a New England air safety board was recommended by Fred N. Davey, aviation department manager for John C. Paige Co.

U. S. taxpayers have given public aid to the country's airlines in the amount of $229,000,000, the conference was told by Robert A. Ramspeck, executive vice-president of the Air Transport Ass'n.

In return, he said, taxpayers obtained a fast and efficient air transport system, a full-fledged air mail system of great value to industry and the backbone of a military transport system.

Cops Guard Lowell Cabs After Attack

LOWELL, May 23—Extra police were asigned today to prevent further violence in the strike of 150 union taxicab drivers, following the beating of a supervisory employe who was operating a cab.

The victim, Edmund Chadokowski, 38, of Gates st., supervisor at the Diamond Cab Co., with a two-way radio system installed in the cab, spread the alarm and police arrived in time to arrest Frank Pratt, 33, of Mammoth rd., and Hector Clermont, 25, of Pawtucket st. Both were bailed for court appearance today.

Week-end Search to Write 'Finis' in Hunt for Paula

BENNINGTON Vt., May 23—Vermont authorities and the family of Paula Welden, 18, missing Bennington College sophomore, today completed plans for a two-day mountain hunt with all hands agreeing it will write "finis" to the six-month search.

W. Archibald Welden, who never has given up hope, today admitted he is ready to give up if the mass hunt by woodsmen and volunteers does not find his missing daughter.

State officials likewise now share the opinion Paula perished in a snow storm while trying to make her way back from Long Trail to the college campus—perhaps along a short cut—back on that snowy Sunday afternoon of Dec. 1.

The hunt gets under way tomorrow morning under circumstances which for the first time have been favorable. Snow continued to fall for days after the girl vanished, and it always was felt if she became lost in the storm the true story would not be disclosed until the snow had vanished under the warming skies of spring.

As Welden conferred with Sheriff John H. Maloney over last-minute plans, he awaited the arrival here of his wife and Paula's two sisters, Pamela, 17, and Stephanie, 15, expected later today from their Stamford, Ct., home. It marks the first time they have visited Bennington since Paula disappeared.

The womenfolk are motoring from Connecticut and are expected in time to have late afternoon tea with Paula's classmates at the college.

Tomorrow, crack woodsmen, townspeople and students from Bennington and Williams colleges will go out along Long Trail toward where Paula last was seen before the snowstorm swallowed her up.

Every inch of mountainside between Bickford Hollow Bridge and Fay Fuller Camp will be covered, with the searchers traveling on either side of the trail for a distance of three miles in each direction.

Sheriff Maloney and other state officials are so confident tomorrow's systematic hunt will produce results that they are making no plans for Sunday. If no trace of Paula is found, plans for the Sabbath search will be made tomorrow night.

MRS. IRENE ANDREWS, WIFE OF NATICK TEACHER
Charged With Desertion; She Says Mate Was a Tippler

Tells Court Wife Can Out-Drink Him

Robert O. Andrews, Natick High School teacher and coach, who testified in Middlesex Probate Court his wife, Irene, spent too much time with Rep. Norman S. Baxter while he, Andrews, was in the service, will go on the stand for cross - examination Monday when their cross-libel divorce suit is resumed.

Andrews charges his brunette mate with desertion. In her countersuit she charges he was a tippler and cruel.

The teacher-coach said his wife had been "over-amorous" when he left for overseas, but strangely cold to him when he came home.

Andrews answered her charge of excessive drinking with the statement his wife "could drink more than I could any day in the week."

Danvers Chef Held In Hospital Probe

Judge George B. Sears continued the case until tomorrow and set bail at $500. But Lively chose to be committed to Salem jail instead.

State Police said the man had been arrested on a warrant after they investigated reports that employes of the hospital were "dating" girl patients in neighboring cafes.

WHAT A MENU, FIDO

GREENWICH, Ct., May 23 (AP)—The question of what was in Fido's dinner was studied today by a chemist called in by Fire Chief S. M. Potter of Greenwich.

Whatever there was in the horse meat and dog biscuits, after they burned last night while being prepared for Fido, turned the Edwin L. Singletons' white laundry room and ceiling into a violent red.

Asks Acquittal on 8 Points in Diner Death

Basing his argument on eight points, defense Atty. Benjamin Chesy today asked a Middlesex Superior Court jury to find William H. Moore, 19, of Ashland, not guilty of the murder of William A. McCormack, 66-year-old Framingham diner handyman.

Chesky summed up his case to the jury after the defendant had taken the stand and denied that he had known the victim or slain him.

The defense lawyer told the jury the police had failed to find fingerprints; that it was impossible for Moore to have broken into the diner, gone to the cabin and murdered McCormack in the time specified, and he also said Moore gave himself up voluntarily.

Chesky pointed out no blood was found on Moore's clothes, no motive was established, the defendant had no cigarets or liquor with him when he came back to his car, and that the government failed to show Moore had any bruises on his hands consistent with having administered a beating.

Chesky's eighth oint was, "we have offered the truth."

In his own defense Moore told the court he and Edward McKeeby, 19, also of Ashland, had left the Moore house at 1:50 on Jan. 18 to go to McKeeby's house for some sugar.

At McKeeby's home it was discovered their car was low on gas, Moore said, and they started to look for an open filling station. He testified they went over a back road to Framingham and looked at a station on the Worcester Turnpike, opposite Ken's diner, but did not stop there.

McCormack was found beaten to death in a small cabin he occupied back of the diner where he was employed.

Moore then told the court they chased a car and raced it as far as Framingham Center and back along the turnpike as far as the Viking. He told of picking up two brothers and bringing them to a housing project in Framingham where the car ran out of gas.

The defendant testified that McKeeby and the two brothers pushed the car until another motorist came along and pushed them into Framingham, leaving them near the depot. He said they finally got some gas from a man who allowed them to siphon it from his car.

Moore denied they had stopped near the Ken, denied that he had ever been in back of the diner and denied that he knew the murdered man.

Under cross - examination by Asst. Dist. Atty. M. Edward Viola the defendant said he did not recall having told state police that he left his home at 2:55 a. m. He said he had not made himself know to Police Chief Edward T. McCarthy when the chief asked for him in a pooleroom, because he did not know McCarthy was a policeman.

Following summation by prosecution and defense Judge Paul C. Kirk will charge the jury and the case will be given to them late today.

Garbo to Accept Recluse's Estate

ALLEGAN, Mich., May 23 (AP)—The $20,000 estate which lonely, British-born Edgar H. Donne willed to Greta Garbo may yet be accepted by the film actress.

Greta Garbo

Probate Judge Tucker has received word from Miss Garbo's counsel that she is interested in the estate, and the law firm has asked Administratrix Marjorie Luna to proceed with liquidation of Donne's property.

The recluse, who died in a small shack, had an extensive clipping file on Miss Garbo, and once went to Hollywood to visit her. He never revealed whether he was successful in meeting the star.

The actress was previously reported intending to give the estate to charity.

Truman's Mother Fails to Improve

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 23 (AP)—President Truman's mother showed no improvement today, raising the possibility he may remain here indefinitely unless there is a decided change for the better.

Mr. Truman told reporters at 9:30 a. m. that Mrs. Martha E. Truman's condition was just about the same this morning, and that she didn't have a very good night.

NURSES AND ALL?

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—The Army Air Force has blueprints of complete hospitals which could be dropped by parachute on battlefields or disaster-stricken communities.

The hospitals would be made up of individual units, each complete in itself, such as operating rooms, X-ray rooms and quarters for patients.

Each unit would be a separate fuselage, capable of being released in the air or detached after the plane had made a normal landing.

Lady Astor, Zionist in Sharp Tilt Aboard Ship Over Jews

NEW YORK, May 23 (INS)—Lady Astor and Dr. James G. McDonald, a prominent Zionist, sharply debated the Palestine issue today during what were supposed to have been two routine ship-board interviews.

Lady Astor, born Nancy Langhorne of Virginia, was being interviewed in one corner of the lounge by the ship news men while Dr. McDonald awaited his turn across the room.

Commenting on the Palestine question, Lady Astor, who described herself as a "politically surpressed but not extinct volcano," declared:

"I am not anti-Jewish but gangsterism is not going to solve the problem of Palestine."

McDonald returning home after a visit to Palestine as a member of the Anglo-American committee of inquiry, walked over and retorted:

McDonald—"The people of Palestine are interested only in building, irrigation and making a homeland."

Lady Astor—"We beat Hitler so the Jews could stay put in their European homelands."

McDonald—"I thought you were fighting the war so Britain could survive."

McDonald—"I don't call you names, you're a lady."

McDonald—"You and Churchill."

Returned U. S. Cruiser Salutes Admiral's Flag

Reverberating across the city, guns of the cruiser Providence, flagship of R. Adm. George C. Dyer, USN, commander of Cruiser Division 10, roared a 13-gun salute today as the vessel moved across the harbor, past the U. S. frigate Constitution, from which the flag of R. Adm. Morton L. Deyo, commandant of the First Naval District, was flying.

The Providence, just back from a Mediterranean cruise, was moving from Charlestown Navy Yard to the South Boston Naval Annex when the salute was accorded the admiral's flag.

Trace Yacht Blast Wire to Youth

SANTA ANA, Cal., May 23 (INS)—The prosecution came up with additional evidence today as the time neared for the start of one of the most mystifying murder trials in California annals.

They are accused of killing the girl's parents, the wealthy Walter E. Overells, aboard the Overell yacht in Newport bay, March 15.

The State contends the young defendants bludgeoned the parents to death and then blew up the yacht with a dynamite time bomb to cover the crime and to give it the appearance of an accident.

Today it was learned that the prosecution has uncovered a sales slip apparently covering the purchase of the wire and the batteries used in setting off the time bomb.

It was learned the material has been traced to a Hollywood radio supply house and that a salesman there will testify that Gollum was the man who bought it.

Earlier, evidence reutedly linking Gollum with the purchase of the dynamite used in blasting was unearthed.

Building Costs Too High for Bank Loans

Massachusetts' Bank Commr. Timothy J. Donovan said today that several prominent lending institutions had voluntarily withdrawn from making construction loans because of the instability of that field.

"It goes without saying that building costs must come down to insure the building industry of financial backing," he told the the apartment house division of the Boston Real Estate Board.

Even though higher earnings of a prospective buyer may justify his paying more for a house to obtain immediate occupancy, Donovan said the lender must look ahead.

Dealing with the GI mortgage plan, Donovan said the State Banking Department agreed with the policy of banks to require the buyer to replace some of the difference between real and inflated values by an equity.

"The policy of the banks in insisting that the veterans have some personal stake in the project, either by a down payment, immediate repairs or new installations," he said, "is a service to the veterans for which many might well be thankful in the days ahead."

Donovan said improvident investments by veterans today will create future serious problems for them.

New Device Heats and Cools Homes for $50 Per Year

CLEVELAND, May 23 (AP)—Costs of year-round air conditioning—heating in the winter and cooling in the summer—in the Tennessee Valley are being reduced nearly 50 per cent from conventional electric furnace rates by use of "heat pumps," a TVA engineer reported today.

Buford H. Martin told the American Public Power Ass'n that more than 4000 Tennessee homes have adopted electric heating.

"In Chattanooga," he said, "the cost of heating an average six-room house with (electric) heating units is around $90 a season. With a central furnace system this cost would be slightly higher, and with heat pump system the cost for year-round air conditioning would be less than $50."

The heat pump operates upon a system of transferring heat from deep wells in the earth, and "boosting" the normal temperature of the water lying some 200 feet below the surface. The water then is circulated through closed pipes extending into the well and connected to the evaporator of the refrigeration unit.

Heat pump commercial installations have been operating satisfactorially for some time.

"This system provides year-round air conditioning by combining cooling with heating from the same device," Martin said. "By taking advantage of the principle of thermodynamics on which the heat pump operates, the cost of heating with electricity will be extremely low."

"Put in TWO of everything. My husband and I sometimes have arguments!"

One-Two Blow Of Victim, 70, Foils Holdup

A couple of stocky hold-up men strode into Kelly's haberdashery store on Church st., Whitinsville, this morning. Maurice Kelly, 70, wiry 5 ft. 4 in. proprietor, had just opened for the day and was standing by the cash register.

One stayed at the door as the other approached Kelly, left hand in his coat pocket menacingly, said "This is a stickup," and punched the much shorter Irishman on the jaw.

The two made their getaway on Church st. in a black sedan, with, Kelly thought, either Rhode Island or Connecticut license plates.

Sentence 3 Youths For Theft of Auto

A Somerville youth and two others from Roxbury were given sentences in municipal court today for larcency of a beach wagon they stole in Roxbury Monday and then demolished in an accident in Somerville.

The driver, Walter L. Swank, 20, of Albany st., Roxbury, a Concord parolee, drew six months. The others, who drew suspended sentences of three months each and probation for a year upon agreement to make restitution, were Gilbert R. Miller, 21, Warner st., Somerville, and Herman Johnson, 19. of Hampden st., Roxbury.

All were arrested by Somerville police when the beach wagon was driven into a telephone pole and wrecked in McGrath hwy.

Moral: Don't Feud With Traffic Cops

MARBLEHEAD, May 23—Selectman John A. Davis tried to take over the police department today—and wound up with a traffic ticket for parking on the wrong side of the street.

"There will be no fix on that ticket," said Chief Samuel L. Bradish.

The incident, growing out of a feud between the board of selectmen and Chief Bradish, occurred when Davis walked into the police station and announced he was in charge. Bradish ordered him out, threatening to lock him up.

Complete Change of Blood Saves Rh Negative Mother

SPRINGFIELD, O., May 23 (AP)—A complete change of blood by transfusion was credited by physicians here today with saving the life of a 20-year-old mother who lost in childbirth much more of her negative Rh type of blood than could be replaced from the hospital's limited supply.

The case, described by Dr. Mary P. Hunter, chief pathologist at Springfield City Hospital, began last April 21 after a Caesarian operation for Mrs. Florence McConnehea.

When hemorrhages followed and the hospital's limited supply of negative Rh blood was quickly exhausted, Dr. H. B. Elliott and Dr. Noama Green, decided to use the common—but opposite—positive Rh blood for transfusion.

Introducing four pints at a time through arm and leg veins, the doctors gave the patient 18 pints during a four-hour period. The normal body blood content is 11 pints.

Another four pints were given Mrs. McConnehea during the night.

After two weeks, the patient's body resumed production of its natural negative Rh blood, destroying the positive type and causing her to become jaundiced and in danger of death from uremia. Six tubes which alternately fed and flushed the system were inserted to carry off poisonous and destroyed positive blood cells until the uremia threat decreased.

Two weeks ago Mrs. McConnehea was dismissed from the hospital.

Dr. Hunter said full facts of the case would be reported to the American Medical Journal after the patient's convalescence had been observed sufficiently.

The patient's son, Donald, described by Dr. Hunter as a "fine, strapping young man," weighed 8 pounds 7 ounces at birth.

Cricket Plague Perils Oregon

ORDNANCE, Ore., May 23 (AP)—The old Oregon Trail hgwy. was red with crickets on a six-mile stretch west of here today as millions of the migrating insects moved close to rich farmlands, despite the efforts of farmers and seagulls.

The seagulls, virtually unknown in this dry wheat country until they descended in large flocks yesterday, were attacking the crickets' northwest flank.

Roads were slippery as the crickets advanced into the alfalfa fields. The huge column will halt for the mating period, but may reach the rich farms first.

Prober Tells Of Red Exodus From U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 23 (INS)—Rep. McDowell (R.) of Pennsylvania, a member of the House committee on un-American activities, declared today that "a significant movement" of Russian citizens out of this country is now under way.

McDowell said numerous "Russian figures" apparently have been summoned back to Europe in the last three weeks. He said they included officials with trading missions and other businesses, as well as students.

The congressman declined to disclose the source of his information. Three other committee members—Reps. Mundt (R.) of South Dakota, Rankin (D.) of Mississippi and Bonner (D.) of North Carolina—said they knew nothing of it.

McDowell said the Russians had been applying for visas from all sections of the country. He continued:

"Something is going on. There's a significant movement out of the country, but I don't know what it means."

Mundt, though unaware of the movement, said the Soviet government had a policy of withdrawing its people "in waves" from time to time "because they don't want them to be away from their country too long."

Canal Zone Plane Wreckage Found

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., May 23 (AP)—The wreckage of a Flying Fortress missing on a flight from the Canal Zone to Kelly Field, Texas, has been found in Nicaragua, the Army announced today.

The plane, with 15 persons aboard, was located as a vast search was in progress by the Army and Navy over Central America, the Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean Sea. No other details were given.

The missing plane left the Canal Zone Wednesday night and was due to arrive at the Texas base at 6 a. m. yesterday. It was last heard from 20 miles off the Nicaraguyan coast at 12:10 a. m. Thursday.

Constellation Beats Rickenbacker Record

MIAMI, Fla., May 23 (AP)—A Lockheed Constellation of the Eastern Air Lines spanned the continent in 6 hours 49 minutes and 26 seconds to set a new California-to-Miami speed record last night for commercial aircraft.

The huge four-engined passenger ship clipped 5 minutes and 31 seconds from the record established only last Saturday by another Constellation, commanded by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Kennedy Analyzes Nation's Status in 'America Today'

In the most revealing article since the cessation of hostilities, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain and one of America's outstanding economists, has prepared an article for next Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser on "America Today."

Kennedy points out the "discontent" in the country today and the effect it may have upon the work undertaken by Communists.

He cites the "economists" who have "regularly been forecasting depression each quarter since V-J Day—20 months ago."

Another of his topics is the fear or worry among those who would take on new business ventures but prefer security and low income to any risk that might be incurred in reaching higher goals.

He gives his ideas, gathered from experience in the diplomatic and business world, of the chances to be had in America for free enterprise "which our forefathers made in order to attain a lasting prosperity, inspiring to the dejected people of other nations who are striving to escape political serfdom and attain national independence."

The article also delves into the international complications likely to result from huge appropriations for "the dubious privilege of taking up the white man's burden," particularly the effect that such moves might have on heavier taxation for the American public.

The Kennedy article is not only critical but constructive, citing the plight of England as it is today, his opinions on the proper methods for dealing with Russia, "ways out" for America's statesmen and political leaders from home conditions as they are at present, and many other ideas to "make America a spectacle of human happiness."

The Record-American pays $50 in weekly prizes for news and picture tips. Call City Editor, LIBerty 4000.

NANKING, May 23 (INS)—A U. S. Army transport plane landed in the Communist-besieged Manchurian capital of Changchun today and successfully evacuated eight women of the American and British consulates.

The women were flown to Peiping in North China.

The U. S. embassy in Nanking said the wife and daughter of Consul-General Edmund Clubb of St. Paul, Minn., and three women employes of the consulate at Changchun were among those removed from the danger area.

Slays Wife, Calls Police, Kills Self

SAN PEDRO, Cal., May 23 (AP)—Rollin A. Starkey, 29, a carpenter, meant exactly what he said when, Detective Capt. H. L. Evans said, he telephoned police:

"I'm going to kill myself because three days ago I killed my wife."

The desk sergeant heard a shot over the telephone. When policemen arrived at Starkey's home they found him, shot in the head. Before he died in a hospital he gave the police instructions about finding his wife.

Hours later, San Bernardino County officers found the body of blonde Betty Starkey, 30, in a cabin at Lake Arrowhead, a resort about 100 miles north. Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Harry R. Heap said a noose improvised from nylon stockings was found and that she apparently was strangled.

N. E. Business Leveling Off, Recession May Be Averted

By Associated Press

Business in New England shows signs of leveling off, the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston said today in a report that held out hope of mitigating or averting a possible recession through lower prices.

"With some price indexes turning downward in March, and several more in April," the report said, "it was hoped that the inflationary peak might have been passed."

Industrial production, after increasing during most of 1946, leveled off during the first quarter of this year, the bank survey showed, adding:

"Nondurable manufacturing has declined since January. New England shoe production was 22 per cent less in March, 1947, than in March, 1946.

"New England manufacturing employment decreased by 5000 from February to March, and unemployment claims advanced 3 per cent.

"Textile and women's apparel industries laid off help, and some mills producing soft woolen textiles suspended operations temporarily."

Construction contracts awarded in March were reported well above those for the same period in 1946, but the bank report said:

"The anticipated building boom was deterred by high costs of labor and materials."

The dollar volume of department store sales, allowing for the shifting Easter date, was listed above comparable 1946 levels, but this was attributed to higher prices.

"Many observers viewed with misgivings the persistent advance of wholesale prices during the first quarter and the upturn of retail prices in March," the report said. "Some efforts were made to stem this tide of rising prices. Many individual and co-operative price reductions were made."

"Attention was increasingly directed," the report said, "to high commodity prices in the hope that downward corrections might avert or mitigate a possible business recession."

Pascoag Mill Closes For Lack of Orders

PASCOAG, R. I., May 23 (AP)—Idleness for 230 woolen workers was due tonight with announcement by the Lincoln Mills Co. that the plant would close for the first time in seven years for lack of orders.

1500 Jews Halted On Way to Palestine

JERUSALEM, May 23 (AP)—A reliable source said today the British had intercepted the ship Mordei Haghkettaoth (Ghetto Fighters), with 1500 uncertified Jewish immigrants to Palestine aboard, and were escorting her to Haifa. There was no official confirmation.

Market Warehouse Strike Is Ended

With both sides agreeing at a State House conference to arbitrate their differences, the 7-week-old strike of 170 employes of the Quincy Market Cold Storage & Warehouse Co., was ended today. The main point at issue is whether one or two men shall be used in the operation of new power jacks for lifting merchandise.

GEORGE VI'S KIN ILL

Bogus 'Win' Ticket Jails Student

A 22-year-old Malden youth who said he was a Boston University student, was in the police lineup today as the result of allegedly trying to cash a five-dollar parimutuel ticket at Suffolk Downs yesterday after it had been altered to represent a winning ticket.

He told police he had been asked by a woman at the track, whom he identified, to present it for payment in connection with a race run Wednesday.

Police said the ticket bore the numeral "2" which had been altered to a zero, making a combination to simulate a bonafide win ticket worth $160. They were to question the woman.

Dutch Ex-Premier Fined As Nazi Collaborator

AMSTERDAM, May 23 (AP) —Jonkheer D. J. de Geer, who was a premier of the Dutch government in exile in London, was given a one-year suspended sentence and fined $8000 today on a charge of "assistance to the enemy." The court ruled he must not leave his residence.

The charges grew out of de Geer's return to the Netherlands in 1941 after resigning his office. His defense was that he wanted to be with his sick wife.

Cenerazzo Would Correct Labor Abuses

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—Walter W. Cenerazzo, president of the American Watch Workers Union (Ind.), said today industry-wide collective bargaining must go. The Waltham, Mass., labor leader added to his list, monopolies, cartels and trusts, and nation-wide employers' collective bargaining. He told the Chicago Kiwanis Club:

"In their stead we must have local collective bargaining at the plant and community level.

"There are extremely vocal groups in the American life that are trying to turn us down the road of planned economy, the reactionary right and the illusionary left. Both these groups are bad for America."

In the right group he included the National Ass'n of Manufacturers, the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, and Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio.

Cenerazzo recommended legislation that would regulate industry-wide collective bargaining and allow only one plant or community collective bargaining, establish union democracy through honest elections, financial reports, fair trials subject to review by state and federal courts, compulsory mediation and outlaw jurisdictional disputes.

Sports-Loving Aussies Hail U. S. Task Force

By RANDOLPH HEARST

VIA NAVY RADIO, SYDNEY, Australia, May 21 (Delayed)—Two hundred thousand Australians lined the entrance of Sydney Harbor Saturday to give the ships and men of Task Force 38 a rousing welcome.

As the Shangri-La hove in sight hundreds of small boats packed with cheering, waving people swarmed around us and escorted the huge carrier into port.

At the harbor entrance the flagship exchanged 21-gun salutes with the shore batteries and in a few minutes we got our first view of what is probably the most beautiful harbor in the world.

The channel is narrow and as Sydney's 1,400,000 people live on the water's edge one has the feeling of sailing down the center of the city, starting at the residential districts and docking in the center of the town.

However, nothing in the world is perfect and the waters around Sydney are no exception.

The bays and inlets are full of sharks, making bathing extremely dangerous; but the sports-loving people of Australia have alleviated the situation by building hundreds of swimming pools along the shores which fill from the bay but are protected by nets and wooden guards.

The bathing beaches, however, are excellent. They are close to town, have wonderful waves for surfing, are relatively safe and during the summer months are jammed.

They say the deepsea fishing is excellent in season and this area is considered one of the best marlin grounds in the world.

The Australians are well known for their love of sports and the outdoors. The government, recognizing this trait, has declared all beaches public property and has set aside thousands of acres of land, very close to the city, as a public forest where people may picnic and hike on holidays.

Golf is also very popular here and the city has about 15 public courses, but the top sport is horse racing which draws crowds of 80,000.

Australia is a young, tough, friendly nation with its eyes to the future.

They liken themselves to America 100 years ago and are not far wrong.

From the wonderful reception they are giving the boys of the task force we assume Americans are popular—certainly the Australians are liked and respected by our group.

PRIVATE HEARSE

DECATUR, Ga., May 23 (AP)—A horse died on the back seat of Joseph C. Davis' automobile.

Davis told police he was driving along Clairmont road and the horse sauntered out of a driveway into the path of his car.

N.E. Lags in Private Flying, Says Expert

New England has lagged behind the rest of the country in developing private flying because of a lack of convenient landing areas, Dr. Lynn L. Bollinger, Harvard aviation authority today told the New England Council's aviation conference.

"Because unrestricted airports used by all types of noisy aircraft have usually engendered more neighborhood opposition than support, these public agencies have somewhat understandably been unresponsive to the needs of aviation," said Dr. Bollinger.

Callahan Pounds State Cop's Story of Grilling of Goodale

you mean his entire testimony, as to his name, occupation and so forth? You make a motion that testimony be stricken out and you do not designate what testimony be stricken out.

Callahan—I move to exclude all his testimony but that part where he gives his name and occupation and says he is a State Police officer. I move all the rest be stricken out.

Judge Goldberg—But what has he testified to that you want stricken out?

Callahan—In his testimony that the investigation was conducted under his direction, and the description of Frank from that person.

Judge Goldberg—That he investigated has been stricken out.

Callahan—I ask that the testimony of the interview with the officer be stricken out and ask that the testimony that on Aug. 1, a message was sent out under his direction be stricken out.

Judge Goldberg—Wasn't that introduced in evidence by you yesterday?

Callahan—No.

Callahan—Yes.

Judge Goldberg — Motion denied.

LT. SULLIVAN

(Direct Examination)

The next witness was State Police Lt. Inspector John F. Sullivan. (He headed the investigation for the district attorney's office from the time Ruth McGurk was missing.)

Q—How long have you been a state detective. A—25 years.

Q—Some time last summer was your attention called to the disappearance of a girl named Ruth McGurk. A—It was.

Q—How. A—At 10 o'clock in the morning of July 28 I received a call from Asst. Dist. Atty. Clark to proceed to Wareham to help Chief Churchill locate a girl who had disappeared.

He said he went to the Wareham police station and conferred with Chief Churchill then proceeded to the Lyle Ann cottage and conferred with Ruth Jefferson and Helen Leary.

Q—And what else did you do that day. A—I started a search for the girl.

Q—Did you talk with Ruth Jefferson and Helen Leary more than once that day. A—Yes, on several occasions.

Q—And in what manner did you start a search. A—I started a search throughout that whole area. We looked over old and abandoned buildings and boats in the harbor.

Q—You say you had a conversation with Miss Leary and Miss Jefferson. In that conversation what did they tell you with relation to the last time they had seen Ruth McGurk.

Callahan—I object.

Judge Goldberg—A description of it you mean?

Dewing—Yes.

Judge Goldberg—I will allow it and save your exceptions. Again, at this point, I caution the jury that the testimony from this witness of what Ruth Jefferson and Helen Leary said with relation to what Ruth McGurk told them is not to be considered for the purpose of showing that what Ruth McGurk told the Leary and Jefferson girls on the night of July 27 was the truth, nor that when she made the statement, if in fact she did, which you are to determine, that it showed her mental attitude or state of mind. It is admitted solely for the purpose of showing that shortly after her disappearance as early as July 28, or July 30, as it may be in this instance, that the Jefferson and Leary girls made a statement similar to the one testified to as having come from Ruth McGurk and only for that purpose. With that limitation I admit the testimony and the defense exceptions are saved.

Q—Did they describe what took place at the dance that night. A—Yes.

Q—What did they say.

Callahan—I object.

Judge Goldberg—I admit it and will save your exceptions.

A—They said that Ruth told them not to wait up for her. That she was going out with a boy named Frank. That she would be back early.

Q—Did they describe this man they saw dancing with Ruth McGurk. A—They did.

Q—Did they say anything else at the time. A—At that time I do not recall that they did.

Q—When was this first interview. A—About noon.

Q—When did you talk to them again. A—Later in the afternoon.

Q—Was there anything further added by them then as to the identification of the man last seen with Ruth McGurk. A—There was.

Q—What was it. A—(Over Callahan's objection). They gave me a description of the jewelry she had with her, her coin purse and they also said that she said that the boy she was going out with was a local boy.

Q—As a result of that information what did you do. A—I made an investigation to find any local boy named Frank that was in the vicinity of that dance hall on that night.

Q—And a result of that investigation what did you do. A—I brought in a boy named Frank seen in that vicinity that night and had the Leary and Jefferson girls see if he was boy that danced with Ruth McGurk.

Q—What else did you do. A—I continued to press the search for Ruth McGurk in and around that entire area.

Q—July 31, what was done by you. A—I organized the search and later went up in a plane and scoured the entire area searching every location in the wooded area that a car might have been abandoned in.

Q—On Aug. 1 what did you do. A—As a result of information I received I sent Sgt. Gallerani to the home of Russell Goodale to request him to come into the Wareham police station.

Q—Did Goodale come to the station that day. A—No, he did not.

Q—He did not come to the station on Junly 31. A—He did not.

Q—Did he come on Aug. 1. A—He did not.

Q—What did you do on Aug. 1 with regard to the missing girl. A—On Aug. 1 I went to the scene at the reservoir and assisted in removing the body of Ruth McGurk from it.

Q—Now up to that time had you talked with various persons as to their whereabouts on the night of July 27. A—Yes.

Q—Now directing your attention to Aug. 2, on that date did you talk with Goodale. A—Yes.

Q—Where. A—At the Wareham police station.

Q—What time. A—About 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Q—Did you ask him if he was with a girl on the night of July 20. A—Yes.

Q—What was the defendant'ss answer. A—He said, "I don't go out with girls," and told me he went to a movie that night or the night before.

Q—When you talked with the defendant on Aug. 2, for the second time, did he tell whether he was with a girl on the night of July 20. A—I asked him if he got a ring from a girl and he said that he did.

Sullivan also said that Goodale told him he met a girl at the dance hall and took her to Jean's.

Q—Did he tell you who the girl was. A—Yes, Betty Wallace.

Q—Did he tell you he gave her any name other than Charles or Russell.

Here, Callahan, jumped to his feet objecting, clashed with Dewing, and both counsel were reminded to direct their discussions to the bench. When Judge Goldberg attempted to break down the line of questioning to clarify the situation, Callahan objected to the judge's rephrased question.

Q—On Aug. 2, was any reference made regarding a door handle. A—Yes.

Q—And what was said about the door handle. (Objection by Callahan).

Judge Goldberg — Will you please come to the bench. I guess we will have to have a series of conferences. I was not present at the interview.

Q—On Aug. 2 did the defendant explain the door handle. A—Yes.

Q—What did he say. A—Told of taking pair of pliers and removing the pin from the handle and placing it in the glove compartment.

Q—Tell you about his employment. A—Yes, said he worked on the cranberry bog.

Q—How long did you talk with the defendant on the occasion. A—About three quarters of an hour.

Q—Did you again talk with the defendant. A—Yes on Aug. 4.

Q—About what time. A—Shortly after 4:15 p. m.

Q—Tell us what was first said to him and what he said to you. A—We talked about July 20th.

Q—Did he tell you about July 20th. (Objection and Judge Goldberg stated "If this is in respect to a name I will allow it." A—Yes.

Q—What did you ask him. A—Asked him about using the name of Frank with the Wallace girl. (Objection by Callahan.)

Judge Goldberg ruled out the question and answer.

Q—Later that night was Geraldine Wallace brought into the defendant's . . . . (Objection by Callahan, question not allowed).

Q—Did you discuss with the defendant about Ruth McGurk. A—Yes. Asked if he was aware her body had been found in a reservoir. He said "it couldn't be me." (Objection and judge ordered answer striken out.)

Q—Did you discuss with him about his business or training. A—Yes, he said he was a commercial artist but was working at present at the bog. I asked him if he knew where Wareham st. was and he said he did not. I asked him of he knew where Rose Brook bog was and he said yes he had worked there on a Thursday and Saturday.

Q—Did you ask him where he was on July 27. A—Yes.

Q—What did he say. A—He said he got home after work in the early evening, he had a drink with some boys whom he had become acquainted with. They had been at his home on previous week-ends. They had a couple of drinks and he brought a bottle to their room and they all had a drink. Talked about going to the dance. He went there later, arriving about 9:30, met a girl and danced with her. During the dance he said he went downstairs and had some beer. Then they returned to the dance hall and had several more dances, but the place was crowded and they went to the King Midas and had two or three highballs. I asked him if there was anyone at Tiny Jim's that he knew and he said no. I asked him if he saw anyone that he knew at the King Midas and he said he met Mrs. Wilson and a fellow that he used to go to school with and knew the head waiter that seated him.

Q—Did you ask him how long he stayed there? A—He said he left there after the last call to obtain drinks before closing. He then said that he went back to Onset. I asked if he knew the girl, and he said that she told him she came from up around Boston. He wanted to make a date with her, but she said that she would see him around. He stated that he got home shortly after midnight because he did not feel well. The drinks made him sick.

Q—Did you ask him about what he did Sunday. A—Yes, he said he remained in the house all day.

Q—Ask him what he did Monday. A—Yes he said he spent all day in the house.

Q—Ask him about following day. A—Tuesday he said he went to Buzzards Bay and went to Boston. I asked him what time did the train leave and he didn't know. Asked him how much he paid for the ticket and he replied that he did not remember. When he went to Boston he said he went to the North Station and took a train to Rockingham Park.

Q—Where did you say he spent Tuesday night. A—He said in the South Station.

Q—Did you ask him how much money he had in his pocket. A—He said he had $64.

Q—Where did he say he was Wednesday. A—He said he went to the movies around noon and left at 3 p. m. and went to Rockingham Park, arriving in time for the third race.

Q—Where did he say he stayed that night. A—In the South Station.

Q—What part of the South Station. A—In the waiting room.

Q—Where did he say he was on Thursday, Aug. 1. A—He said he went back to the race track in the afternoon. He said he played the last race and had a winning horse and won $64.

Q—Was it figured out in front of him, how much money he made.

Callahan objected and Judge Goldberg called both sides to the bench.

Q—When you first talked to him Aug. 4, as to his being at Rockingham track on Aug. 1, how did he say he left the track. A—(Over Callahan's objections) This time he said he left by train. And at the North Station he said he took the Elevated to the South Station.

Q—On Aug. 1 was there any elevated structure between the North and South Stations.

Callahan objetced and Judge Goldberg laughingly explained that in Boston peole called it the "El" whether it was above or below ground.

Q—On Aug. 1 was there an El structure or subway between the North and South Station.

Callahan objected and Dewing withdrew the question.

Q—Now tell us where he went when he left the South Station on Aug. 1. A—He said he went to New Bedford by train. He said he had lunch in Jimmy Egan's diner and contacted James Rose and then went to the Rose house where he spent the night.

Q—Did he talk to his home in Wareham Thursday night. A—Yes, he said he talked to his father and his father told him the police were looking for him to talk to him about the disappearance of a girl.

Q—What did he do on Friday. A—He said he left New Bedford with his father and en route stopped off at the Wareham police station, and the officer said there was no one oround and to come back later.

Q—Did he call at the Wareham police station later. A—Yes.

Q—Later did you call his attention to the train schedules on Aug. 1. A—Yes, on Aug. 4, I again asked him what time he left the Rockingham track. He said he didn't stay for the last race, but left after the fourth race, and got a ride from a man to Boston. He said he didn't know the man's name but that it was a dark car and that he got off at the North Station and went to the South Station.

Q—Now on Monday, Aug. 5, did you accompany the defendant to some other location. A—Yes, to the Brockton courthouse.

Q—Were the Leary and the Jefferson girls there. A—Yes.

Q—On Aug. 6 did you take the defendant some place. A—Yes.

Q—On Aug. 22, what did you do. A—I searched his home.

Q—Did you take anything. A—No.

Q—Were there some clothes

No Blood Stains on Goodale Clothes

Q Were they returned. A—Practically all of them.

Q—Were some retained. A—Yes, a coat and a couple of shirts.

Q—On Aug. 5, did you examine the inside of the defendant's car. A—Yes.

Q—Did you take any articles from the car and turn them over to Lts. Fleming and Faulkland. A—Yes, an undershirt, a sweat shirt, a blanket and cleaning rags.

Q—At some time did you talk to Alice Louise McArthur. A—Yes, on Saturday, Aug. 17.

Q—Have you personal knowledge of getting some hair from Miss McArthur. A—Yes.

Q—Whom did you give the hair to. A—Lt. Trodden.

Q—You asked Goodale where he was on Saturday, Aug. 3, and Sunday, Aug. 4. A—Yes. Saturday he said he went to New Bedford, met James Rose, remained there all day Saturday. He later came home, changed his clothes and went back to New Bedford. His dad came and picked him up and went home. He said he stayed in all day Sunday.

Q—Did he describe the girl he was with on Saturday, July 27. A—Yes; he described the girl as slender, that she came up to his nose, that she had dark hair, nice teeth, wasn't too much to look at and wore a light-colored summer dress.

(Coss-Examination)

Q—You were assigned in charge of the investigation by the State Police. A—Yes.

Q—On July 30, you went to Wareham and found out that there was a teletype message describing a certain individual. A—I was told there was a general broadcast.

Q—Did you find out what the message was. A—Not at that particular time.

Q—Did you get a description of a certain individual from the chief. A—Yes.

Q—Nothing was said about that individual being a resident of Onset. A—Not by the chief.

Q—As a result of your conversation with the chief you talked with the Leary and Jefferson girls and received a description and in that description they gave you there was nothing about the individual being a resident of Onset. A—No, not as I recall.

Q—And you do not know whether that he was a man from Onset was part of the description sent out or not—don't you send out those things. A—There are some things we send out and some things we do not.

Q—In that conversation which meant that that man sought was a resident of Onset, did you send it out on the broadcast. A—I didn't send anything out on a broadcast.

Q—Being the man in charge of the investigation you knew that any broadcast of a conversation giving the description that stated he was a man from Onset was an important element of the description to have been sent out. A—Yes.

Q—Well, was it sent out. A—It may have been sent out. I didn't send it out.

Q—It was a pretty important element of that description, wasn't it. A—It was.

Q—As a police inspector with 25 years experience you would have seen it if it had been sent out on a broadcast, wouldn't you. A—I do not get the question.

Q—Well, if you had any information, at that time, that the person sought was a resident of Onset and you had any description sent out of the man sought, that would be an important element. A—If it was sent out.

Q—You knew it was an important element. Why was it not sent out. A—I couldn't tell you if it wasn't done.

Q—You have told us it was an important element of the description; haven't you. A—As I remember.

Q—And you told us that you learned of it on July 30. A—Yes.

Q—As far as you know the broadcast of the description did not contain any mention of the man coming from Onset. A—So far as I recall.

Q—In the course of your investigation of the suspects you saw different people. A—That is right. Some of them were brought in under my direction. Two were seen by the Leary and Jefferson girls. I think in all probability there may have been 8 or 9 in all.

Q—Of those eight or nine, only two were seen by the Leary and Jefferson girls. A—That is right.

Q—(showing Sullivan the picture)—Do you recall if that picture shows a man that was brought in. A—I recall a man who looked like the representation in the picture. I believe he was brought in Aug. 1.

Q—Was he looked over by the Leary and Jefferson girls? A—I could not answer that. I do not recall. There was information given me. I do not know of my own knowledge.

Q—You mean you were not present if they looked them over. A—That is right.

Q—As the man in charge of the investigation did you learn if they looked him over? A—I think they did.

Q—Was the man in the picture I just showed you a resident of Onset. A—I think so.

Q—So I show you a smaller picture and ask if you recognize in this picture the representation of someone whom you brought in. A—(Looking long and intently at the picture) I would say that from this picture I could say that it was.

Q—Now I show you another picture of the same man. Do you recognize him as a man you brought in? A—No, I do not recall.

Q—Was this man not the same man—we cannot use names here—that was brought in? A—This picture may represent a man who lives in that area. I cannot tell from it. I never saw him in uniform. When I see a man in uniform he looks a lot different to me. I have never seen him in uniform. I cannot tell.

Q—Do you mean to say that as a police official, with 25 years' experience, you identify people from their clothes rather than their features? A—I saw the man for about one hour when he was brought in for questioning. I cannot tell him from that picture.

Q—But you don't depend on clothes you depend on features do you not. A—Surely on features.

Q—Eliminate the uniform and just look at the features and tell me if that is a man you brought in. A—That does not look like the man.

Q—Do you recall the second man brought in, whether or not the Leary girl and the Jefferson girls looked him over in your presence. A—I recall that they looked him over.

Q—Do you recall what they displayed when they saw this man. A—I was talking to him. My back was to them. They were facing him. I do not know.

Q—You present two witneses to look over a suspect and pay no attention to them. A—I did not say that. They were talking with the others. I was talking with the man.

Q—You sent for them, didn't you. A—I asked Chief Churchill to send for them.

Q—So the Leary and the Jefferson girls were brought in at your suggestion. A—Yes.

Q—What did they do. A—They looked at him.

Q—Yes looked at him, but what did they say. Did they make any remarks, did they gasp, were they startled. A—I didn't see them. My back was to them.

Q—What did you do. A—I Asked them after they saw him if he was the man.

Q—What did they answer. A—No.

JURY'S WEEK-END

PLYMOUTH, May 23—The 14-man jury sitting in the Gaudale murder trial faced the prospect of a quiet week-end recess from their duties.

Deputy Sheriff John Osborn, in charge of the jurors, said the case had reached such an important point that it would be impossible for them to go anywhere there were large public gatherings.

This rule out hopes they might attend tomorrow night's game between the Boston Braves and New York Giants or the Sunday double-header between the same teams.

Q—What did they say at that time. Did they say something about his features. A—They were talking in my rear. He was facing them. I was talking with him.

Q—Didn't one of them say, have him smile. A—I did not hear that.

Q—You didn't hear that. A—No.

Q—Do you recall that some officer there talked with the man for the purpose of getting him to smile. A—I do not recall that.

Q—Do you recall that sometime he did smile. A—He may have. I do not know whether he did or not.

Q—Did you talk with him. A—Yes.

Q—Did you leave the room at anytime. A—No I do not think so.

Q—You do not recall any officer talking to the man there for the purpose of making him smile. A—I do not.

Q—Do you recall, Mr. Sullivan, that you asked that man to smile? Not asked him to smile, I mean, but talked with him for the purpose of making him smile. A—I do not recall that I did.

Q—Is that as strong as you wish to put it, you do not recall that you did. A—Yes.

Q—Did you go down to Wareham on July 30. A—Yes.

Q—Is it now your recollection that on Aug. 3 you sent Sgt. Gallerani down to the Goodale home? A—I did not send him down on that date.

Q—Was it Aug. 1? A—I don't recall.

Q—When you sent Sgt. Gallerani to the Goodale home it was on a different matter than the murder of Ruth McGurk? A—Yes.

Q—Sgt. Gallerani reported back to you that Goodale had gone to Rockingham Park? A—Yes.

Q—You were notified on Aug. 1 that a body was found in the reservoir. A—Yes.

Q—It was badly decomposed. A—Yes.

Q—You sent for a dentist from Cambridge to identify the teeth. A—Her brother did. After he only made a partial identification.

Q—On Friday, Aug. 2, Goodale came to the Wareham Town Hall. A—Yes.

Q—You questioned him on the matter you received from Sgt. Keyes. A—Yes.

Q—Was he asked about his whereabouts on July 27. A—No.

Q—Nothing was said to him that day concerning July 27. A—No, sir.

Q—Did you deliberately avoid asking him about July 27. A—I don't know if it was deliberate or not. I didn't ask him about July 27.

Q—How long was he questioned that day. A—I say about three-quarters of an hour or longer.

Q—Was Ruth Jefferson or Helen Leary called in to look him over. A—No, they had left town.

Q—Is there any reason why you didn't. A—No, I don't recall now what the reason was.

Q—You mean to say you are hazy about interview held about nine months ago. A—No.

Q—If not, tell us why you did not have Ruth Jefferson and Helen Leary look him over. A—We were not talking about the McGurk matter that time. We were talking about another matter.

Q—But you were investigating the Ruth McGurk death, weren't you? A—Witness made no answer.

Q—You say length of time questioning the defendant was three-quarters of an hour? A—About that.

Q—And nothing was said about the McGurk girl? A—That is right.

Q—Did you make notes of that conversation? A—I did.

Q—The next time you saw Goodale was Aug. 4, about 4:30 p. m.?—It was a Sunday afternoon about 4:15 p. m.

Q—And then he was questioned all that night? A—No, not all that night.

Q—How long did you question him. A—Until about 9:30. Later we resumed questioning.

Q—You recall that his mother and father were with him. A—Yes. His father came in after him, as I remember, and we told him that Russ would probably be there for some time.

Q—Didn't his father drive over with him in the defendant's car. A—He may have. As I remember he came in later.

Q—Didn't you after questioning him for some time, tell his father that he was going to be kept there for some time. A—I spoke to the father and told him we were going to talk to him and that it would take some time.

Q—Didn't the father go to the car and didn't you tell him that you were going to keep the car. A—I wouldn't say that. I may have.

Q—Then his father went into another car other than the defendant's car, you know that. A—I know he left.

Q—You questioned Goodale about the night of July 27. A—Yes.

Q—And he told you that on the night of July 27, he had a talk with four young men staying at his house and that he told them he was going to a dance. A—Yes.

Q—And he told you he met a young lady at the Casino and danced how many dances with her. A—I don't know, he said she was the only girl he danced with.

Q—You don't remember how many dances he said he had with her. A—He said that she was the only girl he danced with.

Q—Didn't he say he went to the dance about 9 or 9:30 and met a girl and danced with her and went downstairs and had a beer and went back and had several more dances. A—I didn't say that.

Q—You forget what you said this morning. A—No.

Q—Well then answer me. You didn't say how many dances. A—Before or after the beer.

Q—I mean the number of dances he had. A—After he came back from the beer he had several.

Q—Did you ask him how many he had before he had the beer. A—No.

Q—He told you that when he went down to the cocktail lounge. He had how many beers. A—I don't remember, one or two.

Q—Did he tell you that they had anything to eat. A—No.

Q—He told you he parked the car at the house. A—About 300 feet from the dance.

Q—He parked the car at the house. A—About 300 feet.

Q—Well, which. A—Both. 300 feet and the front of the house

Q—He told you that he drove to Tiny Jim's. A—Yes.

Q—And that it was crowded in there and that there were no seats. A—Yes.

Q—Do you recall if he was asked if he saw anyone at Tiny Jim's that he knew. A—Yes.

Q—He spoke to the waitress, didn't he. A—Yes.

Q—Do you recall whether he said he went any place else after leaving Tiny Jim's and before going to the King Midas. A—He did not.

Q—Was he asked whom he saw at the King Midas. A—Yes.

Q—He told you he saw Mrs. Wilson, the wife of the proprietor, was greeted by her and he said he was seated by the head waiter. A—He said a waiter; he didn't say the head waiter.

Q—He told you who the waiter was. A—No, I wouldn't say that.

Q—Didn't he say he was Sweeney and that he went to school with him. A—He said no such thing.

Q—Didn't he say he saw the man he went to school with. A—Yes, but he didn't say the man saw him.

Q—You asked him the man's name. A—He doesn't remember names.

Q—Didn't he tell you who waited on him. A—He said an elderly woman.

Q—Apparently a waitress. A—Yes.

Q—Did you ask him what time he was waited on. A—Yes. He said some time about the last call.

Q—Did he tell you what the girl and he drank. A—Two highballs.

Q—Did he tell you what time he figured he left. A—No.

Q—After the last call and then he drove to Onset. A—Yes.

Q—And then he drove to the triangle. A—Almost by the house at the green plot.

Q—Not the place in front of the Casino. A—No.

Q—He gave you a description of the girl. A—Yes.

Q He said he asked her for a date at some other time. A—Yes.

Q—And she said you'll see me around. A—Yes.

Q—He was not interested though because of the highball. A—He said the liquor made him sick.

Q—He said he went home and parked his car in front of the house. A—He didn't say that he parked the car in front of the house.

Q—Did you ask him where he parked it. A—No

Q—Did you ask him in anyone's presence. A—No

Q—Weren't you interested. A—Yes.

Q—Did you hear him asked that. A—I can't say.

Q—Didn't you hear him say I parked the car in front of the house and went in. A—No.

Sullivan said the triangle is so close to the house that he assumed he parked there.

Callahan—Let's keep assumption out of this, Mr. Sullivan. What time did he say he went into the house? A—Some time after 12.

Q—Who did he say he saw? A—His mother.

Q—Did he say he did anything for his mother? A—No.

Q—Didn't he say that his mother had a sunburn, and that he applied noxema to it? A—I got that from another source, but not from him.

Q—What time did he say he went to bed? A—He said he went right to bed; that he wasn't feeling good.

Q—Didn't he say that he went into the kitchen and had a glass of milk, and that his mother called him to her bedroom, and he put some noxema on her back? A—No.

Q—So as you recall he said he went into the house, but didn't see his mother and went to bed. A—That's right.

Q—After you got his story about his whereabouts on July 27, didn't you send out some other officers to check on it. A—I don't get your question.

Q—When you get a statement from a person you send out or go out to check on that story told you, whether you can find out if the facts he told you can be supported and you did do this. A—What are you referring to?

Callahan bellowing—I'm referring to the crime of murder. You did this didn't you. A—I don't know what you mean.

Q—You don't understand when I say you checked his story. A—Yes.

FOR NATION'S HEALTH

BROADENING the concept of universal military training to include not only physical preparedness for defense but bodily fitness for the constructive tasks of peace, Admiral Ross McIntyre has strongly urged its immediate adoption in America.

Admiral McIntyre, who was wartime surgeon-general of the Navy, recalls that "thousands of our young men were physically unfit when they were called into service during the war."

"That means they were not only unfit for war," he said, "but far from enjoying the full efficiency that should be theirs in peacetime living."

Americans will in turn recall what an alarming proportion of our youth is covered by the admiral's term "thousands."

The kind of military training now being proposed, the admiral added, "would provide lasting health benefits not only to trainees but would raise our whole national health record."

In fact, if the training program did nothing but make an accurate survey of the physical and mental health of our young men, it would perform an invaluable service.

There is perhaps no better means of judging a youngster's corporal or mental capacities, or of discovering and correcting deficiencies, than to introduce him to the duties and discipline of basic military training.

It is a salutary test of his physical, moral and temperamental faculties.

IT BRINGS OUT THE BEST IN HIM, AND ALSO CLEARLY REVEALS IN WHAT ASPECT OF HIS TOTAL MAKE-UP HE IS EITHER IMMATURE, WEAK OR SUSCEPTIBLE.

UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING WILL NOT ONLY MAKE HIM HEALTHIER, AS ADMIRAL McINTYRE SAYS, BUT WILL RETURN HIM TO CIVIL LIFE AS A BETTER BALANCED INDIVIDUAL.

The benefit is just as great even in the case of maladjustment so serious as to require medical attention. For then the disabilities will have been disclosed, diagnosed and treated in ample time.

The admiral is perfectly right.

American fathers and mothers who wish their sons to enter maturity with vigorous minds and physiques combined to achieve the high type of manhood so necessary to our country's progress, will welcome the advantages that universal military training offer as to both body and spirit.

HOPEFUL SIGN

THE New England Council will undertake a comprehensive investigation of the water power of our six States.

This has been announced by the Council's president, Mr. Richard L. Bowditch, who told the Associated Industries of Vermont that:

"It is our earnest hope that the committee (the investigating body) will be able to ascertain all the essential facts in New England's water power situation, and that these facts will closely point the way to our best course of action in the years to come . . .

"In fact, I am in favor of doing anything that will help free New England from the domination and whims of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers."

Most of the information which the Council will need in its study can be obtained at once from the United States Corps of Army Engineers, which has surveyed New England rivers extensively and which is empowered by legislation sponsored by Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Lowell to survey them even more extensively.

The power trust is NOT the agency to participate in an inquiry of this kind, particularly since the presidents of two untilities appeared before the Maine and New Hampshire legislatures at least twice this year to oppose bills designed to attract millions of dollars of federal money to the New England rivers.

The Army Engineers, who have already submitted a program for the full development of the Merrimack, can be relied upon to give straightforward, unbiased advice.

Join once again, sweetheart, join
Your rosy lips to these of mine.
Each kiss of yours creates desire
Your sweet breath inflames love's fire,
And wakes the sleeping coal;
Such a kiss to be I find
The conversation of the mind
And whisper of the soul.

A MR. AND MRS. Beauty Shop. That's what San Francisco has. That's the name of the establishment: "The Mr. and Mrs. Beauty Shop." The announcement says in part: "Separate section for misters—hair service and facials." So there seems to be no reason why husbands in the town by the Golden Gate cannot retain their schoolboy complexions. Maybe somebody will start a similar place in your town, lady. Then, you, too, can have a beautiful husband.

ASIDES—"So the E. in E. V. stands for Edgar and you don't like it," writes a young woman of Pittsburgh. "I like the name Edgar." Well, so do J. Edgar Hoover and Edgar Bergen, but I don't. Call me Vincent . . . A popular organization in the Middle West is the All-American Girls Baseball League. An A. A. G. B. L. player writes: "We don't play soft-ball. That's a game for frail males and grandmothers. We play regular baseball. Why don't you come out and see us some time?"

J. Edgar Hoover

THE EGG AND YOU—A Dinuba, Cal., hen is reported regularly laying eggs four and one-half inches long. This is approximately twice the size of a regular egg. Persons in the egg business should make a study of this remarkable hen. It may be the owner has some unusual type of hen food. Then it may be the hen is a throwback from some unusual ancestor. Egg laying is an inherited trait. Keep that in mind if you go into the egg business.

ASKING: Queries from Clients. Q. How about a green-eyed, honey blonde, five feet two inches in height, born March 29, as a matrimonial prospect? A. The details you furnish are too meagre upon which to base a complete reply. However, green-eyed females are usually very intelligent though inclined to be possessive and jealous. Fundamentally, honey blondes are generally nice girls but many have been ruined by too much flattery and are hard to train as wives. Little women are unusually good matrimonial material but must be firmly handled and not permitted to always have the last word. Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 20) born women are inclined to be dominating but are outstanding as mothers and home managers. They are usually opposed to their husbands having more than one night out a week with the boys and require a detailed report on that. Or so say the stargazers.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL—Remember I told you I had a reader in Palatka, Fla.? I underestimated my strength. I find I have two readers in Palatka. Not only that, I have a reader in Brilliant, O. . . . Am asked what night club in the U. S. A. has been continuously operated the longest. It is Colisimo's, Chicago.

PLEASE NOTE—An astonishing number of people seem to be suffering from inadequate dentures. Most are fairly young people. I believe they are victims of the careless, and often too quickly done work of the war period. To get a good denture the thing to do is to search far and wide for a dentist who loves his work more than money. One who is an artist in his profession and is willing to devote considerable time and care to the making of one denture. There are such dentists but they are becoming increasingly hard to find.

WAITRESSES—Congressman Shafer, of Michigan, states the practice in restaurants is to make the best looking girl in the place the cashier. This, says the Congressman, inspires the male customers to pay their checks with "less reluctance." I strongly question this claim. In the most successful restaurants and coffee shops I know of they make the most beautiful girls the waitresses. There is a reason for this. A good-looking waitress, especially one with a pleasing smile, a bit of "oomph" and an understanding of the male of the species, can develop a following. With ten "oomph girl" waitresses and a good chef you can't go wrong.

SIDELIGHTS—Note it stated Hal Chase once accepted twenty-two chances at first base in a nine-inning game "equaling the record." In my first game of college baseball I accepted twenty-one chances at first base without an error in a nine-inning game . . . Add members My Name is a Poem Club: Sally McNally, Astoria, L. I.; Shirley Perley, Santa Monica, Cal. . . . Gracie Fields, the British chanteuse, has returned to her home on the Isle of Capri. That's a nice place but I like Sorrento better.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

I HAVE DISCOVERED another captain of industry who apparently believes that a fine, young citizen should not suffer denial of business opportunity just because his father is a powerful man.

Westbrook Pegler

He is August A. Busch, Jr., president of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., the St. Louis brewing company.

Mr. Busch "understands" that Dave Beck, Jr., has "joined the organization" of the K. & L. Beverage Company of Seattle, which recently was appointed to be the Budweiser beer in Seattle. distributor of DAVE BECK, JR., is the son of the sixth vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Helpers, Warehousemen, Embalmers, Milkers, Bobby-Sox Clerks and so forth.

Dave Beck, Sr., is the most powerful individual in the Great Northwest by reason of his control of the Teamsters' Union.

Some years ago, in San Francisco, Mr. Beck, Sr., told me that he had put an embargo against certain California brews, excluding them from the state of Washington to protect his union's interests in a dispute with the Brewery Workers' Union.

The Brewery Workers claimed jurisdiction over the men who formerly drove the brewers' big horses and later drove the brewers' big motor trucks. Mr. Beck said these drivers were teamsters, not brewery workers. He won.

A BUSINESS FIRM or a combination could be prosecuted on criminal charges for such interference with interstate commerce, but the Federal Court decisions affirm the right of a boss unioneer to do this if he acts solely in the interests of his union.

Of course, if such an embargo should incidentally confer a monopoly on a combination of other brewers or relieve them of serious competition, that would be fine for them.

In that case there was no evidence of collusion.

ANHEUSER-BUSCH withdrew Budweiser from the Pacific Coast in January, 1943, as a patriotic act, abandoning a great market to ease the load on the railroads.

Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, thanked the company and said it was his understanding that it represented a saving of transportation of more than 100,000 barrels of beer a year.

In a recent announcement Anheuser-Busch says that the company hopes to meet the growing demand which "the world's largest brewery, working at capacity, is unable to fill."

After the withdrawal, the Seattle distributor "made satisfactory arrangements to handle other beers" and "almost every distributor of beer and general merchandise in that city wrote us making application for the Budweiser distributorship in that important trade area."

"AFTER A VERY CAREFUL investigation," Mr. Busch continues, "we decided to place the distribution of Budweiser with the K. and L. Beverage Company of which Mr. Irving J. Levine is president.

"This firm, in our opinion, was the best distributor in the city of Seattle. Following the completion of our arrangements with Mr. Levine and the K. and L. Beverage Company, we understand that Mr. Dave Beck, Jr., subsequently joined their organization, but his having done so had no connection directly or indirectly with our choice of a distributor in Seattle."

I DO NOT INFER, however, that Anheuser-Busch was exactly aghast at this development.

"By way of comment, however," Mr. Busch says, "my understanding is that Dave Beck, Jr., had a very fine war record in the Army during the recent World War. Why or under what circumstances he joined the K. and L. Beverage Company I wouldn't be able to say as we have no knowledge of the details or do I know the young man. Neither do I know his father.

"However, it would seem that Mr. Beck, Jr., should not be penalized for joining any organization simply because his father is officially identified with one of the largest unions in the country."

BY A SOURCE of information in Seattle I am told that Dave Beck, Jr.'s, interest in K. and L. Distributors is 24 per cent. Considering Budweiser's old reputation and the continuing power of the advertising campaign, this should be a fine break in life for any war veteran.

I RECALL that some years ago the Carpenters' Union picketed Budweiser all over the country because the company couldn't give the carpenters certain jobs without violating a contract with another union.

The Supreme Court finally said the carpenters were right even if they were in the wrong, because a union could do no wrong.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 23—I wonder if it can be done—I mean, can Arthur Freed actually film the life story of Richard Rodgers and the late Lorenz Hart (Rodgers and Hart) and stick absolutely to the facts? If he can, it will be the first film biography that hasn't been decorated with a lot of glamorized fictional scenes.

"Night and Day" was a mighty good picture, but the life story of George Gershwin was dressed up a lot. As for "Till the Clouds Roll By," Jerome Kerns' life story, that also was a good picture but it was written with an eye to fiction.

Judy Garland

The title of the Rodgers and Hart epic is "Words and Music," and their popular tunes, "Song in My Heart," "Blue Moon," "Lover" and "Falling in Love Again," will all be used—natch.

So far, Judy Garland, Gene Kelly and Frank Sinatra are the stars. I have an idea Judy will take a long rest, however, before she does anything more. She's been miserable all the time "The Pirate" was being filmed.

IN A SHORT TIME Warners will spring a big project and I hope I am not betraying any confidence when I give advance information—but after all, I'm a newspaper woman and I have to print the news.

Jack Warner will shortly make a picture called "To the Victor," a story of the aftermath of war showing its terrible effect on civilization and certain individuals. It has a religious theme and is, in a way, a plea for peace.

It will be made on a big scale and special stages are being built. There is no cast selected and this is all I can tell you about it since no one seemed ready to discuss it on the Warner lot.

FORTUNATELY Virginia Mayo's movie career is much more stable and settled than her marital plans with Michael O'Shea. She starts work on "That's Life" with Danny Kaye in a very good spot for Samuel Goldwyn, but she doesn't know whether or not Mrs. O'Shea's divorce will be on the calendar in June. The divorce came up in March, but in Connecticut there is a waiting period of three months. If the divorce doesn't come up in June, it won't be settled until September.

Virginia will marry O'Shea when he's free, but when that will be, no one seems to know. She has all along preferred that nothing be said, but since it's been commented on so much, it seems only fair that her version be told.

SUSAN HAYWARD brought her twin sons to call on me. Gregory, who has red hair, is the comedy member of the team. Timothy, who is blond, is more serious.

I've never seen a cuter pair in my life. Both of them are mimics. Each sang a song for me and presented me with a bouquet. How Susan manages to keep these two off the screen, I don't know.

I have to say, however, that Gregory fell for the cook, Marion, and liked her best. That's because he's fickle like all the young men.

Susan leaves in a few days for North Carolina for "Tap Root," her next picture. I must say motherhood becomes her. I have never seen her look so well.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Martha O'Driscoll was not granted a divorce at the end of her six weeks in Las Vegas because Richard Adams is still determined she cannot have her freedom and entered his usual protest at the last minute.

But Martha is keeping on trying. There is a legal technicality which states a woman has a chance to divorce even an unwilling mate, if she publishes her intentions of filing and then resides in Nevada for two months following the publication date. This is what she is trying to do.

This divorce certainly sets some kind of an all-time record—even for Hollywood.

When John Wildberg reaches London he will have a talk with Paulette Goddard to see if he can get her to star in the film version of "Anna Lucasta" for him.

I understand up to now no deal has actually been made but Wildberg would like to have Paulette, and in that event the story will deal with white people instead of colored.

Ruby Dee, Negro actress, scored such a great hit as Anna in the stage version that Phil Carter, her agent, telephoned me he had taken an option on Ann Petry's book, "The Street" to star Ruby. It's the story of a Negro girl in Harlem trying to make a home for her son.

John Farrow telephoned to tell me I spelled my godchild's name wrong. I called Maria Farrow, Marie. Now, John, you know mistakes like that always happen in the composing room. (Boys, if you read this it doesn't count.)

Johnny and I had quite a chat and I found out he's going to direct "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes," a metaphysical occult tale starring Edward G. Robinson and Joan Caulfield for Paramount.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD Collected at Random: N. Peter Rathvon could hardly work yesterday he was so busy receiving congratulations. He's a grandfather. His son, N. Peter Rathvon, Jr., welcomed a baby girl.

Mrs. John Wayne

Jean Sablon has brought his 78-year-old mother here from Paris. He had a little party at the new home he bought for her to introduce her to his friends, the Van Johnsons, the Louis Jordans and the Jean Pierre Aumonts.

Marilyn Maxwell will ask for her release from M-G-M when her contract comes up for renewal Aug. 1. She wants a picture. If she gets it, she may change her mind.

Very hot even for summer weather between Sheila O'Malley and John Nolan, the RKO actor. Hear they are both marriage minded.

Garson Kanin and Ruth Gordon are sailing for Europe on the Queen Elizabeth to see Kanin's play, "Born Yesterday," in London. That's a marriage that has certainly worked out well. When Kanin had to come out to the coast without Ruth, he told her to go and buy herself a dress every day he was away to remind her of him. That's nice reminding.

The medal for the longest USO tour of the war goes to Horace MacMahon, character actor, and Louise Campbell, who have traveled 150,000 miles and played every military hospital in the USA since the war. MacMahon will resume his picture career.

The record selling the most in Scotland is "St. Louis Blues," done with bagpipes. That I'd like to hear.

Mrs. MacDonald Carey, accompanied by Miss P. C. Keer, has gone to Philadelphia to visit her family. When they return Miss Kerr will marry Sandy Cummings, Irving's nephew.

Boston After Dark

COMES THE NEWS that Joe E. (for Everglades) Lewis, critics' pet and favorite comedian of nightclub managements and ringsiders alike, is to open June 1 at the Latin Quarter . . . Joe E. will stay for two weeks, and some say that it was his availability for a Boston booking that made the Quarter's bosses change their minds, and continue the season into the month of brides—and perhaps beyond . . . One certainty is that the nimble little comedian will do business . . . He always has . . . Joe's first appearance in a Boston night club in several seasons recalls the comical story of how Comedian Lewis got his middle initial.

IT SEEMS THAT two ascending stars—one of the ring and the other of show-business—began to get attention in the press at the same time . . . Both were called Joe and both had a surname which sounded the same when spoken . . . Joe Louis was "The Brown Bomber," of Detroit . . . Joe Lewis was Chicago's greatest night club comic when Chicago night clubs were solely the property of rival webs, and outlets for rival types of what the early Threadbare Thirties called "giggle-water" . . . The Joe Lewis of the nightclubs was so lucrative a proposition for a nightclub owner in Chicago that Joe came to grief and great bodily injury because he tried to change his place of employment.

BUT THAT IS ANOTHER story, although ringside customers who may have noted a nervous tic in Comedian Lewis's face should know that it, and the knife scar across his cheek, both derived from the violence he suffered when he tried to leave one night club to work in another . . . He was kidnaped, beaten, kicked in the throat, and left for dead . . . It was nearly three years before he recovered the use of his voice . . . But the story of how Joe came to be "Joe E. Lewis," with a middle initial being the something new in his name, happened after that . . . Chicago of the Roaring Forties boasted (but not publicly) of a notorious resort known as the Everglades Club whose infamous owners and proprietors were a pair of eldering dillies known as the Everglades Sisters.

THE USUALLY SOLEMN burghers of Chicago had made a citywide gag of this emporium of high-life, and a routine alibi of the day—good for a laugh from the many insiders but a secret to be kept from wives, sweethearts and senior partners of the firm—was "dining at the Everglades Club" . . . Like so many of his fellow-townsmen, Comedian Lewis had used the Everglades Club alibi in shaking off persistent admirers . . . Shortly before the question of adding something to the Lewis name in order to distinguish him from the other Joe had arisen. Joe the Comedian had explained a broken date to a fair admirer by saying he had had an important meeting "at the club."

"YOU'RE IN THAT old Everglades Club so much lately that you're beginning to look like it," the vexed female had ranted, stamping her little foot . . . "Ah!" said Joe (No Middle Initial) Lewis. "That's it. If I'm getting to look like the Everglades, that'll be my middle name." . . . And so it turned out . . . He has been Joe E. (for Everglades) Lewis ever since.

LIP-TATTOO-ING of the horses at Suffolk Downs is proceeding . . . The deadline for imprinting a number on the upper lip of every thoroughbred in the country has been set for April 30, 1948 . . . As in the East alone, there are more than 18,000 race horses in training this looms like quite a chore.

NEW YORK, May 23—Vivien Leigh, still ailing, doesn't want to make any movies in Hollywood. One coast studio offered to buy her a palace in Arizona if she'd reconsider. . . . List of Lana Turner's birthday presents to Tyrone Power: gold cigaret case; cufflinks with a diamond, emerald, amethyst and ruby in each (spells "dear"—get it?); black calfskin script binder, and a portable phonograph. Happy birthday, dear Tyrone, happy birthday to you! . . . Showgirl Future Fulton has broken her engagement to Paul Lewis, the Miami bandleader . . . Residents of a Long Island community will submit 150 requests for gun permits to dramatize the lack of police protection and inadequacy of alarm systems in the suburbs. They want to form a vigilante committee.

Vivien Leigh

FRIENDS HOPE Hedy Lamarr and John Loder will avoid the front page routine by deciding "not to tell all" in the divorce papers . . . The ailing Cordull Hull is rushing completion of his book. He has a yen to see it in print as soon as possible . . . Pev Marley insists he'll join Linda Darnell in Paris in the wonderful month of June, matrimonial pessimists notwithstanding . . . Helen Fortescue Reynolds, the sociable actress, is on the verge of marrying a wealthy American in Argentina . . . Debs and dowagers in Southampton, L. I., are atwitter over the report that Clarke Gable will spend a month there this summer . . . The Detroit Symphony wants Margaret Truman for a return engagement . . . Federal experts confide that Barney Ross' well-publicized "cure" still is stimulating thousands of narcotic users to surrender voluntarily for similar treatment . . . With Sonja Henie abroad, her ardent suitor, Stu Barthelmess, has been whiling away the hours with Ruth Brady . . . Al Simmons and his wife—he's the former great baseball star—will remarry any day.

WASHINGTON, May 23—New Deal nugget just dug up and assayed in all its golden richness:

Included in the huge slush fund which the disciples of Roosevelt poured into Montana to defeat Burton K. Wheeler for re-election to the Senate was $1000 from Kenneth Romney, convicted New Deal sergeant-at-arms.

The thieving New Dealer got a certified check for $1000 from the House funds over which he had custody and sent it to Montana to be used against Sen. Wheeler.

It turned out, however, to be a Democratic case of cutting off the nose to spite the face. The stolen dough just helped the Democrats split themselves asunder—assuring the election of Zales Nelson Ecton, a Republican!

CHIEF JUSTICE FRED VINSON has become an ardent farmer, but this is a fairly recent development in his many-sided career. Although born and bred in old Kentucky, as they say of thoroughbreds, he never turned his hand to anything agrarian. In fact, he never even learned to make moonshine.

One time, however, he attended an outing given by Sen. Barkley for Kentucky Congressmen.

The talk was all about farming; how many bushels of corn to the acre; how many eggs to the chicken and how many blades of blue grass to the rod. Finally, Mr. Vinson spoke up.

"I guess," he observed, "that I am the only one here who isn't a farmer."

NEWCOMERS ARE constantly astounded at the way rumors fly around Washington at supersonic speed. They wonder how the rumors started and what secret means of transmission is involved.

I can cite one instance which may give an inkling.

The State of Washington, like all other States, has two Senators, but they are not of one political faith. Warren G. Magnuson is a Democrat and Harry P. Cain a Republican.

They see eye to eye on few things; in fact about the only thing they agree on is the location of Puget Sound.

They have, however, press representatives who fraternize, particularly in thinking up devilment. Art Burgess, who works for Sen. Cain, is forever cooking up plots with Bill Golden, who labors for Sen. Magnuson.

They were in the latter's office the other day ogling Miss Bessie Robertson, Magnuson's very ogleable secretary.

"I got an idea," whispered Mr. Burgess. "Why don't we start a rumor that Bessie here is going to quit Maggie (a rather disrespectful allusion to Sen. Magnuson) and run for Washington's vacant House seat as a Republican?"

So Mr. Burgess got on the phone and called a certain radio commentator noted for his know-everything pretensions.

"Listen," said Mr. Burgess, "this has got to be absolutely confidential, but what do you hear about Magnuson's secretary running for Congress to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rep. Fred Norman?"

THE RADIO prophet got very mysterious.

"I know something like that is on the fire," he said, "but I haven't cleaned up all the details yet. I'll call you back."

In less than two minutes the voice of knowledge called Golden.

"Listen Bill," he said, being very cute, "when is Bessie Robertson announcing her candidacy?"

Mr. Golden pretended utter astonishment.

"How," he demanded, "did you get on to that?"

"Why," replied Mr. Know-it-all, "it's all over the Capitol!"

PHILADELPHIA, May 23 (AP)—Fourteen-year-old Terence Horgan was bitten severely on the hand when he got too close to a bear cage last night on the lot of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's Circus, police reported.

Doctors at Temple University Hospital said the middle finger of Horgan's right hand was chewed so badly a skin graft was necessary.

Home Garden Forum

By FOSTER H. WEISS
Head of the Vegetable Gardening Department, Norfolk County Agricultural School

Q—I enjoy nasturtiums and plant them every year. When they are ready to bloom little black bugs get all over them. How can I get rid of these little bugs?

A—Your trouble is aphids. Spray plants with nicotine sulphate or black leaf-forty every week or ten days when insects appear.

Q—How can I prevent potatoes from becoming scabby?

A—Potato scab is caused by an organism that lives in old soil. Buy certified seed and plant potatoes on new land. Do not use lime on land where you plan to plant potatoes.

Q—Last year we had corn smut. Does that mean that we should give up growing corn?

A—Corn smut was bad last year due to wet weather. If growing conditions are good I would not hesitate to grow corn again this year.

Q—Is it too early to set out celery plants?

A—No. If plants are well grown and hardened they should come along now. Avoid any check in growth or you will get a high percentage of seed stalks.

Q—I have about 50 pounds of fertilizer left from last year. Is it still good?

A—Complete fertilizer does not lose much value if stored in a dry place. If it is caked up badly it may have been wet, and lost some of its nitrogen value.

Q—In breaking up dahlias should part of the stem be left with each root?

A—It is best to leave part of the stem as the bud develops where the root and stem connect. If you are a beginner it is best to let buds start before separating.

BOSTON EVENING ... MAY 23, 1942

hall with him and was violated and killed.

Miss Wallace also declared that when Goodale parked his automobile while taking her home from the Onset dance hall, he told her the doorhandle on her side of the car was broken, "and he took out a pair of pincers and took it off."

Previously, State Detective John F. Dempsey had testified that Goodale, under questioning, had told of the same incident. Goodale, Dempsey said, told officers he had met Miss Wallace at the Colonial Casino the Saturday night before Ruth McGurk disappeared.

He said, Dempsey continued, that he drove her in his car to a spot along Route 28 and parked. Goodale said he asked the Lowell girl if he could kiss her and she refused, the detective related.

He said Goodale told him he took pliers and removed the door handle of the car. Dempsey testified he asked the youth why he did that and quoted Goodale as saying he did not want her to get out when he made intended advances.

Under continued questioning, Dempsey said, Goodale told how he made advances and how the girl pleaded with him that she was not that type of girl and offered to introduce him to another girl. Goodale said she addressed him as "Russ" and he told her that his name was "Frank," Dempsey testified.

While the State was scoring point after point in the final stage of its presentation, after several days of defense gains, Judge Lewis Goldberg ordered a Saturday sitting of court tomorrow to try to bring the trial to a verdict before Memorial Day, on next Friday. He would not say whether he would hold court all day tomorrow or only half a day.

The hairs found in Goodale's automobile were found on a blanket, a sweatshirt and a cleaning cloth, according to State Police witnesses.

There were also stains on the blanket and sweatshirt and these stains may figure in the case.

No fingerprints were discovered.

Besides analizing hair from the scalp of the slain girl, State Lt. Walker examined hair cut off and given to the police by Natalie Bolles Nickerson, Geraldine Wallace and Alice McArthur of Longwood ave., Onset, and compared their hair with the three hairs found in the accused automobile. All these young women said they had been in Goodale's car.

State Police photographer William Farren found one of the telltale hairs while examining Goodale's car for fingerprints three days after Ruth McGurk's body was found in a Carver cranberry bog reservoir. Goodale had driven over to Wareham State Police barracks in the automobile for questioning.

This hair was on a pink and white cotton blanket which was lying partly-folded but lengthwise over a piece of timber four or five feet long back of the seat.

In cross-examination, Callahan made him show exactly where on the blanket the hair was found. With the blanket on the courtroom floor between witness stand and jurybox, Callahan bent over while the witness pointed out the spot "on the third white stripe" and painstakingly folded the blanket to demonstrate precisely how he had removed it from the automobile.

Farren had placed the hair in an envelope and put the envelope in his pocket and Callahan wanted to know if he perspired that day. The supposition was that perspiration alters human hair.

The same witness found the sweatshirt and two cleaning cloths in the car. The shirt was a Navy garment with the name Goodale stenciled on it.

At the State Police laboratory in Longwood ave., Brookline, Sgt. George F. Roache testified he examined these articles and found one hair on the sweatshirt and another on a cleaning cloth.

Roache marked the exact places with wire staples and showed Callahan the staples. These two hairs were described as 11 inches long each. The one discovered on the blanket by Farren was not measured by either of these witnesses but Farren estimated the length as 12 inches.

Callahan made a point of asking if the hairs appeared to have been cut, or if their roots were intact, but the witnesses had made no examination under a magnifying glass and could not say.

Ruth McGurk's hair has been described by Dr. Alan R. Moritz, state pathologist, as generally 16 inches long, and he said it was loose at the roots from decomposition of the body.

Besides the girls, Goodale's fellow employe in the cranberry bogs, Oscar Morse of Wareham, testified about Goodale's alleged use of the name Frank, declaring the defendant told him about using it when out with girls.

Goodale's co-worker also testified that the accused Onset youth told him he removed the doorhandle of his car on the girl's side before making advances.

Race 'Fix' Echo In Extortion Case

SPRINGFIELD, May 23—An allegedly "fixed" race at Pascoag, R. I., was echoed in court here today when Christopher Majento, a Thompsonville, Ct., juke box distributor, was held in $1000 bail charged with attempted extortion from Albert J. Sylvestre, local dine-and-dance spot owner.

Judge William J. Granfield continued the case after Majento pleaded not guilty.

Sylvestre asserted Majento telephoned him May 6 and asked him to bet $400 with a bookie on a horse named "Bus V. Z" in the eighth race, a contest Majento allegedly described as fixed.

Sylvestre said he didn't do it. The horse won and paid $7.40, which would have meant $1440 for the $400. Majento became angry and threatened to bring a gang here to wreck Sylvestre's dance spot, the owner said.

Doctor's Story Aids Accused Teacher

SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 23 (AP) — Dr. John J. Hardy, a North Liberty physician, testified in juvenile court today it would have been "impossible physically" for Russell L. Jackson, former North Liberty high school coach, to have become the father of the three-month-old son of Doris Rawles, 15.

Jackson, now employed as a teacher in Indianapolis, is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Miss Rawles has testified she and Jackson were intimate four times in 1946.

Dr. Hardy testified he treated Jackson for injuries suffered Feb. 28, 1946, in an auto-train accident in which Jackson's wife was killed.

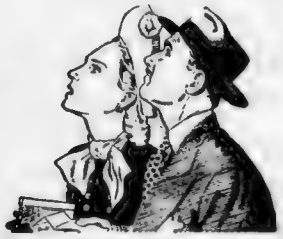
MR. & MRS. CONSUMER

MR. SHIPPER & MR. FARMER



MR. & MRS. PASSENGER

The non-operating unions alone—whose members do not actually operate trains—are demanding a flat increase of 20 cents an hour. These demands would cost the railroads of the country five hundred sixty-eight million dollars a year!

Last year these employes had an increase of 18½ cents an hour. This was their third major wage increase since 1939. Their average weekly pay has gone up 75%, as against a cost-of-living rise of 54%.

Since 1939, railroad wage and material costs have gone up more than three times as much as freight rates, and five times as much as passenger fares. That is why in 1946, with the largest peacetime traffic in history, the net income of railroads went down to the equivalent of only 2¾% of the net property investment.

What About 1947?

Even with the recent freight rate increase, preliminary figures indicate that the railroads will make only about the same low return in 1947 as in 1946. This will be because:

—the wage increase made in 1946 will be in effect for all of 1947;
—special payroll taxes on railroads have recently been increased;
—and passenger traffic has declined.

Where Would the Money Come From?

We can't pay out what we don't take in. And we are not taking in enough now to meet present costs and to complete the improvements in service that you need and that we want to give you.

You Would Foot the Bill!

ROOM 214 • 143 LIBERTY STREET • NEW YORK, NEW YORK

We are publishing this and other advertisements to talk with you at first hand about matters which are important to everybody.

LET'S TALK SENSE ABOUT YOUR FOOD DOLLARS!

A&P SUPER MARKETS

In times like these when everybody is talking about the prices of almost everything, we welcome the opportunity to re-state A&P's long established price policy.

Our policy is simple and easy to understand. We haven't seen anything that beats it when it comes to saving money on weekly food bills.

Briefly, it is this: Price every item every day, day in, day out, as low as our efficiencies, resources and costs of merchandise to us permit.

And, equally important is this:

As the prices we pay for foods go down, we reduce retail prices as quickly as practical.

A&P's profit margin is very low (average for past 5 years, about 1 cent on each dollar of sales). This small profit, plus economies in the way we do business, makes it possible for A&P to price every item low every day week after week.

We sincerely believe that those families who purchase all their food needs at A&P get more good food for their food dollars.

officers to his home to bring some clothes. A—Yes.

Q—Also asked them to bring the register from the house. A—Yes.

Q—What were the clothes. A—Underclothes, shirts that was practically all.

Q—What did you do with them. A—They were returned.

Q—You examined them before you returned them. A—Yes, at the station house.

Q—What did you examine them for. A—Any stains or anything we could find out.

Q—You examined them thoroughly for stains. A—Yes.

Q—And you found none. A—No.

Q—And you returned them the next day. A—Yes.

Q—But you kept a coat and two shirts. A—Yes.

Q—You found no stains on them. A—No.

Q—And when you examined the car you say you found a sweatshirt on the 4th. A—I didn't say I examined the car on the 4th. I took that out on the 5th.

Q—Then you weren't present when Sgt. Farren examined the car and said he found a hair. A—I was not.

Q—Now on the 5th you took out of the car these things in evidence here. And you examined these things for stains. A—That is right.

Q—Did you find any stains. A—No.

Q—He was not allowed to sleep at all was he. A—Yes, he had some sleep.

Q—Or maybe 6 or 7. A—There weren't that many.

Q—Not that many, eh. Maybe 6. (There was no answer.)

Q—He was questioned in relays, wasn't he. A—I would not say that. Inspector Dempsey did most all of the questioning.

Q—Do you recall when he went to sleep waking him and disturbing him so he could not sleep. A—No, I do not recall that.

Q—That questioning continued until Monday morning when he was brought down to the scene—that reservoir from which the body was recovered. What time was that. A—Some time in the vicinity of noon after he had washed up, cleaned up a bit and had something to eat.

Q—He was questioned at the scene. A—I didn't question him. I believe someone had some talk with him.

Q—Later he was brought to Brockton and shown to the two girls there. A—Yes.

Q—They made no identification of him there. A—No positive identification.

Q—No identification at all. A—They were not positive, no.

Q—After that he went to the Wareham police station. There was no identification made. A—No, there wasn't.

Q—Was he booked. A—Yes.

Q—Do you recall what he was booked for. A—I do.

Q—And it was not for suspicion of the murder of Ruth McGurk. A—It was another charge.

Q—On the following Thursday he was brought to the Wareham district court and admitted to bail on the charge made against him. A—Yes.

Q—Now go back for a moment to the car. Can you describe the car you saw there on the night of Aug. 4, under lights. A—It was a Ford coupe, 1937 model, I believe.

Q—Can you describe it more. Was it in good running order. A—I could not tell you regarding that.

Q—Referring to pictures. Are these pictures taken Aug. 14, particularly the one showing the rear of the car a fair representation of that car on the night you observed it. A—They are.

Q—When was it you saw the car. A—Aug. 5.

Q—Where was the old tire when you first saw the car. A—In the back of the car.

Q—Anything else you saw in the car. A—Yes, a piece of board.

Witness was asked to view several photographs of the car.

Q—The board you saw on Aug. 5, was not in the center of the car and not on top of tire. A—I couldn't say.

Q—You were present in Wareham District Court on Aug. 8. A—Yes.

Q—When did you see Goodale after Aug. 8. A—Aug. 17.

Q—Where. A—In front of his home.

Q—Who was you with. A—Inspector Dempsey.

Q—Was he brought to Wareham station that night and booked for suspicion of murder. A—Yes.

Q—After that did you go to the Goodale home and make a search. A—Yes.

Q—Find anything there that has been presented in evidence or will be. A—Nothing at the house.

The witness was relinquished to Dist. Atty. Dewing.

(Re-direct Examination)

Q—As a result of your interview of Aug. 2 did you make an investigation. A—Yes

The next witness was Daniel Hurley, who before becoming a member of the Boston police force, was employed by the Boston Terminal Co. as a special officer.

DANIEL HURLEY

(Direct Examination)

Q—On July 29 were you employed by the Boston Terminal? A—Yes.

Q—On July 31 were you on duty? A—Yes, from midnight until 8 a. m.

Q—Did you see the person in that photograph in the waiting room on July 29, July 30 or July 31? A—No.

Q—On the morning of July 31 did you talk to persons in the waiting room? A—Yes, each and every one.

(Cross-Examination)

Q—When were you shown picture of defendant, after it was in paper. A—Shown it the end of the week of Aug. 6. I think

Q—They asked you if you recognized the man as being in the South Station. A—Yes, I said I didn't see him.

Q—What kind of a photograph was it. A—Newspaper picture

Q—Do you want the judge and jury to think that if you were shown a newspaper picture of a person you could identify it as the being the person in the waiting room. A—Yes, if they had slept there.

ALBERT TRACEY
(Direct Examination)

Q—On the night of Tuesday, July 30, and Wednesday, July 31, were you employed at Boston Terminal. A—Yes.

Q—Were you shown a picture of the defendant. A—Yes.

(Cross-Examination)

LT. FRANCIS FL MING
(Direct Examination)

Q—On Aug. 19, 1946, did you receive from Dr. Fisher and Dr. Moritz some of the hair of Ruth McGurk. A—I did.

Q—Tell what you did with it.

Callahan—I object to the fact that the envelope is marked "the hair of Ruth McGurk."

Judge Goldberg—It has already been testified that he received this envelope with these markings. I will instruct the jury that the markings on the envelope as to what the contents of the envelope are have no bearing as proof.

Q—You received that envelope. A—Yes.

A—To whom did you deliver it. A—To Lt. Walker.

There were no further questions.

Judge Goldberg—You may.

LT. SULLIVAN
Re-Cross Examination

Callahan then asked Sullivan?

Q—In the course of your investigation did you interview the employes of the Colonial Casino? A—(thinking for a time) I talked with the ticket seller, the officer at the gate, also the stand employes and members of the band.

Q—And the officer at the gate is the one that stamps their wrists as they come in and out on the pathway. A—I guess so—if that was what they were doing that night.

Q—Can you tell us where he is now. A—In the cemetery I believe.

Judge Goldberg—You mean he is dead.

Sullivan—Yes, sir.

That is all.

Dr. Joseph T. Walker, State chemist, was next called.

He gave his background in education and experience since he was graduated from the University of Illinois in 1930.

DR. JOSEPH T. WALKER
Direct Examination

Q—How long have you been in charge of the State Police laboratory. A—13 years.

He said that on Aug. 13, 1946, Sgt. Roche of the State Police gave him a carton containing the articles that were introduced earlier, including a cotton blanket.

Q—On Aug. 5 did you receive from Cpl. Farren of the State Police a hair. A—I did.

Q—And on Aug. 6 did you receive from Sgt. Roche of the State Police two hairs. A—I did.

Q—Did you observe where Sgt. Roche obtained the hairs from. A—I observed Sgt. Roche in the removal of one of the hairs and saw the cleaning cloth as I recall.

Q—Was it on the cleaning cloth. A—It was.

Q—Did you observe where the other hairs came from. A—The other hairs I did not observe.

Q—At some time did you make an examination of these hairs at your laboratory or some place. A—Yes, I did.

Q—Where. A—I first examined them at the Department of Legal Medicine with Dr. Fisher and Dr. Moritz.

Q—Did you return them to the State police laboratory at that time. A—I did not.

Q—At a later time, did Lt. Fleming deliver you these three hairs—meaning the hairs that were at the Harvard Laboratory. A—He did.

Q—In what condition were they.

Some Popular Soups

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

EVEN IN HOT WEATHER soup is an acceptable and useful item to serve. There is a wide choice of canned soups in the grocery stores and there are many quick combinations that can be made at home.

If you need more than one can of soup for your family's meal, put two kinds together for variety. Some excellent combinations are cream of tomato and green pea; chicken and mushroom; corn and tomato. Good home-made soups are French Onion, Vegetable and Quick Bortsch.

FRENCH ONION SOUP

6 medium-sized onions, sliced
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 qt. boiling water
5 bouillon cubes
Salt and pepper
3 slices toast halved
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Saute onions in butter in heavy saucepan over low heat about 10 minutes, or until lightly browned, stirring to cook evenly; add water and bouillon cubes, or 1 quart soup stock, bring to a boil and simmer 15 minutes; season and pour into hot soup plates or earthenware bowls. Float toast on top and sprinkle with cheese. Serve with additional cheese, if desired. Or toast bread lightly, sprinkle with cheese and place in hot oven until cheese is browned; cut in 1½-inch squares, place in soup plates and pour hot soup over squares. Makes 8 servings.

QUICK BORTSCH

2 cups chopped cooked beets
¼ tbsp. fat ½ cup minced onion
1 cup minced celery
6 cups beet juice and water
2 tsp. salt ¼ tsp. pepper
3 tbsp. lemon juice
Sour cream or whipped cream

Chop beets fine. Melt fat, add onion and celery and cook 3 minutes. Add beets, beet juice water and cook 10 minutes. Add salt, pepper and lemon juice. Put a spoonful of thick sour cream or whipped cream on top of each serving. Makes 6 servings.

VEGETABLE SOUP

¼ tbsp. beef or bacon fat
½ cup minced onions
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced carrots
½ cup diced potatoes
2 cups water
1 cup canned tomatoes
½ cups brown soup stock
Salt and pepper

Melt fat, add onions and cook until transparent. Add celery, carrots and potatoes and cook over low heat, stirring for 3 minutes. Add water, cover and cook until vegetables are tender. Add tomatoes and soup stock. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Makes 6 servings.

Soup, because of its liquid quality, needs crisp accompaniments. Crisp rice cereal may be added to the individual bowls or passed at the table so each person may take the amount he likes. If the cereal is browned lightly in melted butter to which a few drops of onion juice have been added, it is doubly delicious.

An unusual accompaniment for soup is crisp cereal browned with cubes of salt pork. You will need a large bowl of this so that as much as desired can be added at the table.

CEREAL WITH SALT PORK

1 cup crisp rice cereal

Cook salt pork in frying pan until brown and crisp. Lift from fat and drain. Brown cereal in 1 tablespoon of the salt pork fat. Drain well; combine with crisp salt pork cubes and serve in separate bowl with soup.

Real Bargain in Perfume

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE'RE FAST COMING to the conclusion . . . come to think about it . . . it's been on our mind for some time . . . that the barometer of a woman's glamor is in her astute use of perfume . . . what, when and how much. Look about you in your own circle of intimates . . . and you, too, will share our thinking.

The girl who makes a studied art of perfume also makes a studied art of her flattery-invoking dress . . . the sentiment her appearance conjures up in the minds of her scrutinizers. The girl who indiscriminately douses herself with perfume and toilet water . . . like splashing her face with cold water . . . is usually just as haphazard in her appearance. She's the kind of a girl who shrugs her shoulders if the collar of her dress is powder-white . . . or if the back is creased . . . hoping to get away with it.

We fully realize that on the whole perfume is a personal matter . . . and that it is, perhaps, a bit difficult for even a beauty editor to sing the praises of a scent and expect the feminine world to rush out and get it. Yet the perfume we favor today . . . with its own intriguing personality to complement yours . . . has a special accent in addition to its wonderful femininity.

ANNIVERSARY PACKAGE AT HALF PRICE

To celebrate its creator's 25th anniversary as a great name in the beauty world . . . this perfume has been done up a very special anniversary package and its price cut in half to make it more attractive as a purchase. Normally this half-ounce flacon retails at $8 . . . but for this festive and important occasion it may be had for $3.95 . . . a cosmetic and beauty celebration of great import.

For the woman who has smartened up to the intangible and inexplicable importance of perfume . . . who enjoys good things for the intrinsic beauty they contain . . . this anniversary falcon of perfume is a wonderful offer. It is a personality potion that bids fair to lift its user's spirits to new heights, for it has been created by one of the top names in the business. For a limited time only . . . it comes in a charming, typical French-style, glass ground, penny-stoppered bottle.

No woman's beauty shelf should ever be without some evidence of perfume. Its illusiveness is typically feminine and what woman would ever say she isn't all a woman should be?

For the name of this half-price, anniversary perfume package, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A WOMAN without the intriguing touch of perfume and its haloed aura of personal loveliness is like a sky without stars . . . drab, dull and beclouded with fog . . . champagne without its pop and fizzle . . . an ice cream soda without its creamy foam. The fabulous fragrance of a smart perfume underwrites a woman's claim to bandbox beauty.

Her Mother Objects to Boy Friend

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I have been going with a girl I love very much for about three months, off and on. The reason I don't get to see her very often is that her mother disapproves of me for some reason or other, and doesn't wish her daughter to go out with me, and we have to do it on the side. But this girl doesn't like to deceive her mother, and I don't care for the idea of sneaking around corners much, either.

I would like to know some way of finding out just what her mother has against me, and try to make her approve of the idea I have for the two of us.

T. A. P.

I'm a great believer in the direct method of asking about what you want to know; of going straight to the person you think has the answer. So I'd suggest that you make a polite call on the girl's mother—and I don't mean a telephone call, either—and ask her if she will tell you frankly what her objections are to your friendship with her daughter. Tell her how much you admire her daughter, and say that neither of you want to do anything of which she disapproves. Tell her that if there has been anything in your conduct or attitude that she doesn't like, you want to know it so that you can remedy the difficulty.

Most mothers, I think, would respond in a co-operative manner to a straightforward and manly approach like that.

Cover-Up Jackets

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

WHO KNOWS what intrigue lies behind a seemingly innocent face, or what degree of bareness one of the new jacket dresses may be hiding? This is the year for convertible cottons, those adaptable darlings that consist of a sun dress cut as low as low can be, plus a cover-up jacket that makes an honest woman of the outfit.

These dresses are studies in contrast. Faithful to the 1947 view-point, the dress itself is usually made long and full from the waist down; molded and bare above. The jackets are little marvels of fit and detail. They are not the skimpy boleros of yesteryear. They cover fully, with long sleeves, high necklines and closed fronts.

The convertible cotton sketched today is from Zachary Bogart collection. The strapless top of the dress is boned for snug fit above the waist while the ballet length skirt flares gently out from the hips. The long-sleeved mandarin jacket, closing at the throat, nips in at the waist and out again over the hips in a peplum effect. The cotton calico comes in green, red or black with a tiny, muted over-print.

Smart Set Fete for Golf Stars

By BETTY ALDEN

CHARLES RIVER COUNTRY CLUB members are celebrating the spring and summer season with a whirl of festivities highlighted next Wednesday by the appearance of Bing Crosby in a benefit golf match for the Children's Medical Center.

Chief topic of conversation among members at the spring dinner dance at the club tomorrow evening will be anticipation of meeting the famous crooner and watching his game. James Murley, whose wife is chairman of the house committee, is chairman of the dinner dance with Elmer Ward and Everett Ketchum.

Mrs. Henri Prunaret

Charles River ladies never miss a Wednesday at the club when there is a weekly golf tournament and luncheon, followed by bridge for non-golfers. Mrs. B. Allen Smith is chairman of the ladies' golf committee, assisted by Mrs. Henri Prunaret, Mrs. Frank King, Mrs. Arthur Ross, Sr., and Miss Helen Berrigan.

SUSAN GILMAN, attractive Cambridge post deb joins the ranks of future brides today with announcement of her engagement to John Henrikson Hanson. Miss Gilman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gilman of Ash st., Cambridge. She graduated from Winsor School and Vassar 1946 and is a member of the Vincent Club.

Mr. Hanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo H. Hanson of Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, received his degree from M. I. T. School of Architecture last February.

LITERARY MEMBERS of the English Speaking Union will have an opportunity to meet and chat with one of their favorite authors Monday afternoon at a tea to be given at 270 Dartmouth st. Guest of honor will be Mrs. Angela Thirkell, whose humorous stories of modern English country life are popular reading here and abroad.

Mrs. George F. Bemis will pour and guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Graham McInnes, Mrs. William G. Constable, Mrs. Melvin Young, Mrs. Samuel C. Mixter, Mrs. Edward B. Bayley, Mrs. Tabor Low, and Misses Elizabeth G. Norton, Emily Dutton Proctor, Helen Ramsay, Eleanor G. Parker and Waller Irene Bullock.

ROUND TOWN . . . The Somerset's dining room, overlooking the cool terrace, is a popular spot for post debs to spend their lunch hour. The other day Janet McKee and Lee Stowell Cullen lunched there during their noon respite from work at Red Cross headquarters. Joining them was peppy Chiquita Mitchell, Brookline post deb, who is working at Erskine School following her release from two years' service in the SPARS. At the Balinese Room the other evening, Emily Garritt, attractive West Newton post deb, had two escorts William Bickell and Frederick Toohey, taking turns dancing her around to Ranny Weeks' music.

COMPETITION will be keen in the hunter classes at the Dedham Horse Show May 30 and 31, especially for the Horatio Hathaway Memorial Plate because a number of horses entered have won it in previous years. Mrs. Henry Hall, last year's winner of the coveted trophy, and Mrs. Franklin King, who won it in '43 and '45, are competing again.

Other well-known riders in the hunt classes will include Mrs. Gardiner Fiske, Mrs. Sherwin Badger, Miss Katharine Winthrop, Miss Sylvia Warren, Miss Amelia Peabody, Mr. Frederick Winthrop, Mrs. Edward Grew and Mr. Bayard Tuckerman. Part of the proceeds of the two-day show will benefit the Children's Medical Center.

Gala Midnight Show
32 For Old Howard Fans

Lana Barri, Diana Dare and Lois Page, for eye appeal, and Sammy Smith and the team of Stinky and Shorty, for laughs, head the big show of 60 burlesque performers appearing in tonight's midnight show at the Old Howard. Vaudeville represented by Fred Grant, the Tampa Boys, Arlene and Arlene, and Al Murray, as the master of ceremonies, and Herbert Leighton, vocalist, are others featured in the show.

'Dark Memory' Opens June 9

Based on a short story that appeared in a national weekly, from whose pages such stage hits as "My Sister Eileen" and "Junior Miss" were drawn, "Dark Memory," a theater piece of the suspense-and-thrills school, will have its pre-Broadway premiere at the Wilbur Theater on Monday night, June 9.

Charles Dingle and Mary Anderson, returning from cinematic triumphs in Hollywood for the new Herman Boxer play, head the cast. Supporting players include Stephen Courtleigh, Kathryn Grill, Arthur Hunnicutt, John Forker and Peter Brocco.

Edith Gordon, Broadway play agent and producer, is sponsoring the play. Charles K. Freeman, who directed "Song of Norway," "I Like It Here" and "Morning Star," is staging the production.

MARTHA F. LEWIN
In Spouters' Play

The settings are by Sam Leve and the costumes were designed by Rose Bogdanoff.

Stars in 'Joan of Lorraine' at 17

Seventeen-year-old Martha F. Lewin, Fairhaven High School senior, is receiving congratulations today as a result of her performance in the title role of "Joan of Lorraine," the Ingrid Bergman-starring Broadway play which was given its first "Little Theater" presentation in New England by the Spouters last night at Fairhaven Town Hall.

There will be a repeat performance tonight of the Maxwell Anderson drama, which recently completed a six-month New York engagement.

Miss Lewin, who is the daughter of Charles J. Lewin, editor and publisher of The Standard-Times, New Bedford, has been accepted for entrance into the school of drama at Carnegie Institute of Technology next September.

HELL MISS Technicolor, regrets Marius Goring, in and on the "Stairway to Heaven," which is to be seen at the Exeter Street Theater beginning Sunday.

Jack Carson Steals Honors On Para-Fenway Screens

By PEGGY DOYLE

Impartially billed and equally barren of originality, Warners' "Love and Learn" has a slight edge over its companion Paramount and Fenway feature, Republic's "That's My Man," by reason of likeable Jack Carson's brash performing.

Carson, of course, is much too good to be wasted on the strictly-according-to-formula situations that make up the familiar plot of "Love and Learn." He and the pleasant company he keeps in this song-draped comedy, very fetching Martin Vickers, good-looking Janis Paige and nice Robert Hutton, work hard to give the tired scripting a lift. Director Frederick de Cordova, too, does his darndest, keeping the action well-paced.

Miss Vickers, a carefully reared heiress who decides to have a fling at taxi-dancing, meets Carson and Hutton, struggling songwriters, decides to help them by pawning her jewels. Romance, cooking by this time, gets scorched when the boys suspect her of being a female Raffles being sought by the police.

There is the expected clinch ending. Several blue lines have been written in to break up the lulls in the script, which take this moderately amusing William Jacobs production out of the recommended-for-children bracketing.

Don Ameche and Catherine McLeod are teamed in "That's My Man," Frank Borzage's second top production for Republic. This is a weeper that requires Ameche, in one unfortunate sequence, to give a choked-up reading of a poem to his dying child.

This has a racetrack theme that is almost lost in the script's overall sobby sentimentality, but the best of it are these exciting, realistic racetrack sequences.

Ameche's walk-through performance as the gambler who neglects his wife and child for the bangtails and the rolling dice doesn't do much for "That's My Man." Miss McLeod, less prominently cast, does well. Roscoe Karns, always dependable to give a competent performance, does the best he can with inept comedy lines.

JOINS SARATOGA GROUP

John Barry, currently appearing in "State of the Union," closing at the Colonial Theater tomorrow night, will be the press representative of the Saratoga Springs Summer Theater.

ZORINA is easily the loveliest of the quantities of stars that scintillate in "The Goldwyn Follies," the super-duper Technicolor production presently being revived on the Center Theater screen.

Testimony

A—Practically in the same condition they were when I left them at the Harvard Laboratory, mounted on a large microscope block.

Q—Then you received that hair from Lt. Fleming at some time and it was the same hair. A—It [illegible]

Q—Was that hair marked when you received it. A—It was.

Q—Were you later delivered some hair of Ruth McGurk from Dr. Moritz. A—I was.

Q—Was this hair Lt. Fleming gave you all hair of Ruth McGurk. A—It was.

Q—Did you on Aug. 31 receive from Lt. Trodden some hair marked "MacArthur." Callahan objected. Judge Goldberg allowed it. The witness replied: "I did."

Q—Did you receive on some later date an envelope marked "Wallace." A—(Over objection.) I did.

Q—Did you on Aug. 22 receive from Lt. Dempsey, an envelope marked Natalie Bolles. (Objections.) A—I did.

Q—Did you examine the hairs of Ruth McGurk and the hairs associated with the defendant's automobile. A—I did.

Q—Did you examine the hair of the Wallace girl A—I did.

Q—Did you examine the hair of the MacArthur girl? A—I did.

Q—Did you examine the hair of the Bolles girl? A—I did.

Q—Did you examine all these hairs for the purpose of comparison. A—I did.

Q—What did you observe about the color of three hairs associated with defendant's auto. A—All three were classified as medium brown in one in particular having a bit-reddish cast.

Q—What did you observe about the McGurk girl hair. A—It was medium brown color with a reddish cast at the tip of the ends.

He explained to the court and the jury the construction of a hair, saying it is composed of three principle parts, the root, the shaft which is the body of the hair and the end. As far as the shaft is concerned, it too is made up of the principal parts: The innermost part or medulla which corresponds to the lead in a pencil, the intermediary part or cortex which corresponds to the wood of the pencil and the outer part or cuticle which corresponds to the enamel on a pencil.

Q—Now, doctor, have you an opinion as to whether the hairs taken from the articles in the car were human hairs. A—I have. They were human hairs.

Q—Have you an opinion as to whether those hairs were those of a woman. A—I have. That they are hairs of a woman.

Q—Did you observe the length of these hairs. A—Yes. Two were 11 inches in length and the third 13 inches in length.

Q—How many hairs did Dr. Moritz give you of the McGurk girl? A—More than 100.

Q—And the length of those hairs? A—Eight to 15 inches.

Q—Did you observe the three hairs associated with the car? A—Yes. All three were moderately curled and of a relatively fine texture.

Q—How did it compare with the McGurk girl's hair. A—It compared in fineness.

Q—Did you observe the character of the medulla of the three hairs found in the car. A—Yes. Two hairs from the car had no medulla resent.

Q—What about the character of the medulla in the McGurk girl's hair. A—Over three-quarters had no medulla.

He exlained that the third hair from the car showed only fragmentary medulla and that the McGurk girl's hair showed only fragmentary medulla present.

Q—Were the three hairs taken from the defendant's car consistent with that taken from the McGurk girl. A—Yes, they were consistent.

Q—Is it possible for you to give an absolute opinion that the three hairs taken from the car is the same hair as that of Ruth McGurk. A—It is not.

Q—Did you also examine a board that was turned over to you. A—Yes.

Q—Did you find anything upon examination insofar as this case is concerned. A—No.

(Cross-Examination)

Q—Doctor, at some time the contents of the stomach of Ruth McGurk were turned over to you. A—Yes.

Q—Did you examine defendant's clothing. A—Yes.

Q—Did you find anything. A—No, I didn't.

Q—Were you informed of her last meal. A—Yes.

Q—Were the contents found in her stomach consistent with what she had eaten for her last meal. A—Yes.

Q—If Ruth McGurk four or five hours after her last meal drank beer would you expect to find any trace of beer in the stomach. (Objection by Dewing, question allowed). A—I saw no evidence of that there was beer. It would also depend on the recency beer taken and amount drank.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

In her bridal party my daughter is having a maid of honor and two bridesmaids. Would it be correct for her to have two ushers? A says "no," and B says "yes." R. H.

From the way your question is worded, I judge that you and your daughter may think that it is the number of bridesmaids invited by the bride that determines the number of ushers to be invited by the groom. This is not necessarily so. It is the size of the wedding . . . that is, the number of guests to be seated . . . that determines the number of ushers, for example, a large church wedding requires at least two ushers, preferably more, for every hundred guests invisted.

How Many Ushers For Wedding

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

We are a group of five women who would like very much to give a shower for a dear friend of ours who is going to have her fourth baby. Two women who are close friends of ours and of this mother-to-be insist that a stork shower is permissible only for the first baby. Are they right about this?

FIVE FRIENDS

No. You and your friends have the right idea; in the first place it's entirely proper to give a stork shower for Baby No. 4, just as for the first baby; and in the second place this baby shower would be, as you and your group of friends feel, a particularly practical and to be welcomed plan in this circumstance.

Larry MacPhail Upsets Yankee Apple Wagon

Larry MacPhail

By AUSTEN LAKE

ONE THING IS AS CERTAIN as the undependability of Boston weather, i. e., that Larry MacPhail, the irascible tow-head of the N'Yawk Yankees, will bounce from one trouble to a bigger trouble. He has a foxhound's unerring nose for stirring up calamity.

Just emerged from a rowdy tangle with Commissioner Happy Chandler after a long series of wrangles with persons ranging from telephone operators, policemen, newsmen to President William Harridge and contemporary club owners, now comes MacPhail with an open player rebellion on his hands. This culminates from fines to Joe DiMaggio, Charley Keller, Johnny Lindell, Aaron Robinson and Don Johnson for refusal to allow a news reel company to take stunt pictures which the athletes considered demeaning. As an added corollary MacPhail says the money plasters were also for refusal to accept evening speaking assignments at dinners.

THIS FERMENTATION OF TROUBLE and his bullying tactics between MacPhail and an inner circle of rebellious spirits dates back to early season when MacPhail notified his men that, failing to fly in airplanes between series, he would require them to pay their own rail transportation, MacPhail having signed an air contract at a considerably less figure than railroad cost. Under duress most of the Yankees flew, but Hendrick, Sternweiss, Chandler, Shea, Bevins, Johnson, Crosetti and Schulte refused, one of their number revealing to the writer by telephone today that the cost of Pullman travel had subsequently been deducted from their pay checks.

This player, who asks to remain incognito, said, "The internal troubles of the club have replaced its interest in winning games. The locker room has become a debating society with the men taking opposite sides until Manager Bucky Harris has been driven crazy. To give Bucky his just due, he's tried to keep the team going, but MacPhail keeps swinging the whip on one thing or another."

Consensus among New York ball writers, who have smothered the story of intraclub confusion and near-mutiny since early spring, is that MacPhail's obduracy is such that he is ready to trade or sell his malcontents in open market and "rely on some mysterious magic to rebuild the club in midair."

During the last month the Yankees have held repeated team meetings at which their agitation is reported to have soared to such emotional heights as to approach open strike. They acknowledge that a clause in their contract, inserted only this year, requires them to co-operate in promotional and publicity matters—a clause, they aver, that was written-in at MacPhail's behest. Yet, they say, the antics and circus stunts they have been obliged to perform have hurt their professional dignity. Said one of the more prominent players, a long term major leaguer, "It used to be something pretty significant to wear 'Yankee' on your uniform shirt. But it is the name of a country carnival now. We no longer are accorded the courtesy of being asked to attend banquets and social gatherings. We're ordered to go! We feel that our time off the field is our own leisure, just as with any hunky in a coal pit when he goes home after work. But MacPhail thinks he owns us body and soul."

THE RESULT IS A TEAM TORN by inner dissension as few clubs since the "Cry-Baby rebellion" of the Cleveland Indians against Manager Ossie Vitt in 1940, when a majority protested his hard-handed bench tactics to the front office and demanded his resignation. As matters have progressed lately the Yankees have drifted downward from the crest of the league standing to sixth place with the prospect of going deeper into the abyss instead of being one of the front contenders.

Also, by creating fresh wounds, MacPhail has re-opened such old sores as the sudden resignation of Bill Dickey late last season. The suppressed story is that MacPhail, with his chronic habit of tampering with the field management, took an intense prejudice to second baseman Joe Gordon and ordered Dickey to keep him benched. To which Dickey, a resolute type, replied, "As long as I am manager I will decide who to play."

"All right," stormed MacPhail, who cannot brook resistance in any form, "you won't be manager very long." The feud, once started, continued by direct word and long distance telephone until Dickey jumped overboard and swam ashore. Since then Gordon was traded to Cleveland and misses no opportunity to scarify his former boss, MacPhail.

Another sour incident occurred this week when Etten, a $12,000 player, was summarily dropped down to Newark after being a training camp target of MacPhail's bias. On the day of his dismissal Etten barged into the presidential sanctum and uttered a profane blast to Larry's teeth which left the loquacious leader temporarily speechless. MacPhail's only retort was "You are an ungrateful man"—a most tepid, vapid reply for the game's most avid tongue thrower.

Thus today every managerial eye in the major leagues is glaring hungrily toward the Yankee Stadium in the hope of picking up a few bargains from MacPhail's counter. The choice remnants, say my New York source, are DiMaggio, Keller, Chandler, Sternweiss and Bevins. The alternative guess is that the club's major stock holders will buy up MacPhail's contract before the team's spirit leaks through its pores. "Anything can happen," says my reliable informant. Let's see!

Braves-Giants Series Recalls Memories of '33

By FRED HOEY

The current Braves-Giant series at Braves Field, which started this afternoon, has taken on much of the color of that famous September series in 1933 between the same two teams. Then, as now, both teams were battling for the National League lead. In the old series, it was strictly between the Braves and Giants, but the Chicago Cubs have projected themselves into this year's setting.

In the '33 series, the Giants won four games, lost one and tied one in probably the most exciting big league series held in this city in three decades. New England was baseball crazy at that time. Tremendous crowds flocked to the Wigwam. The Braves failed in this vital test. The Giants went on to win the pennant and later the World Series from Joe Cronin's Senators four games to one.

The anemic efforts of the Giants in the early weeks of the present campaign attracted a lot of sympathy to Mgr. Mel Ott. But Mel needs it no longer. His team was a riot in the West. They knocked off so-called good clubs with abandon.

Ott has a wholesome respect for any club led by Billy Southworth. He knows Billy gets a 100 per cent return from his players in hustle and spirit.

While the Giants had the standout team on the western tour, the Braves' trek to that sector could hardly be termed a howling success. The locals won only six games and dropped 7 on the road. On the other hand, before they went West, the Braves had amassed 10 wins out of 12 starts. Which proves conclusively that the team thrives on home cooking and a chummy atmosphere.

This current stay of the Braves should in some measure determine pretty well just how the team is going to figure in the scramble for the flag. At present, 7½ games blanket the first and last place teams. A home stand approaching their last should put the Braves very much in the fight.

They play 23 games at home. Every team in the league will visit the Wigwam during this stay.

Jim Fitzpatrick, Ex-Eagles Great, Retires as Coach

PORTLAND, Me., May 23 (AP)—After 26 years as a Portland high scheel athletic coach, Jimmy Fitzpatrick, one-time Boston College gridiron star, submitted his resignation today. He will continue as director of athletics.

For many years Fitzpatrick coached bith football and basketball squads but in late years has confined his work to basketball only.

Auto Race Stars End '500' Boycott

CHIICIAGO, May 23 (AP)—Organized owners and drivers today agreed to end their boycott of the Indianapolis speedway's 500-mile automobile race Memorial Day, thus assuring participation of the nation's top drivers in the annual speed classic.

The group's decision came at a meeting of the American Society of Professional Automobile Racers in Chicago, at which members voted unanimously to accept an offer by Anton Hulman, Jr., speedway owner, to put up extra money personally for qualifying prizes for post entry Aspar drivers.

Hulman stipulated that each Aspar entry must obtain the signatures of the 35 car owners who entered the race before the April 15 deadline. All 36 have said they would sign waivers permitting the Aspar drivers to compete.

M'Phail Denies 'Fly Or Else' Ultimatum

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—Pres. Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees denied today that he had issued a "fly or else" ultimatum to his players, but confirmed the fact that he had fined six players for failure to co-operate in promotion and non-baseball activities.

Because they failed to leave batting practice to have their pictures taken with soldiers and WACs modeling proposed new style Army uniforms, Joe DiMaggio was fined $100, the first fine of his career as a Yankee, and Charley Keller and Aaron Robinson were docked lesser amounts.

MacPhail, describing the fines as a way to "lay down the law in a way the players would understand," almost boiled over at hearing reports that players who refused to fly with the club on the next western trip would be required to pay their own railroad fare.

"No one on our ball club ever has been told that he has to fly. Nor will anyone ever be told that he must fly," MacPhail asserted. "Players who prefer to make trips by train may do so at any time."

The Yankee president refused to take the fining of the players very seriously. "I haven't received any squawks at all from the players I fined," he said.

Johnny Lindell, often mentioned in off-season trade stories, drew the MacPhailian wrath for allegedly advising the younger players to "skip" banquets, and Don Johnson, a rookie pitcher, was fined because he paid attention to Lindell. Frank Shea, who shutout Hal Newhouser and the Detroit Tigers in his last start, also was said to have been fined.

As far as could be learned, the players plan no joint action, considering each case an "individual matter." As DiMaggio said, "They'll just take it out of my pay and I will have no choice in the matter."

"We'll probably talk it over a little," said a player who did not wish to be identified.

Coming on top of Joe Gordon's recent blast at MacPhail and revelations about conditions during the late days of the 1946 season, the epidemic of fines were regarded by baseball men as reflecting an unhealthy situation on the Yankee team.

Revolt of Yanks Seen at End

By HERB FINNEGAN

NEW YORK, May 23—Revolt among the Yankees is at an end. The pipe of peace was passed around at a players' meeting with Secretary Arthur "Red" Patterson before today's game with the Red Sox. Although it was not learned whether the fines on Joe DiMaggio, Keller, Chandler and Co., had been rescinded, it was learned that the players had agreed:

1—To co-operate with the management in promotional activities "within reason."

2—To travel by rail or plane as they wish. If they prefer rail, the fare definitely will not come out of their own pockets.

Rookie pitcher Don Johnson was fined because he had agreed to attend a function and then did not appear. That is not good policy, but no pitcher likes to take a bow after losing a close game.

DiMaggio and Keller were fined for refusing to pose for Army Signal Corps pictures. Their defense was that they were taking batting practice, the one time they do not want to be annoyed.

Bucky Harris and 28 Yanks today signed a paper to the effect that players had never been "ordered to participate" in promotional activities or forced to fly against their will.

There's a long, long trail a-winding for the web-footed Red Sox that stretches into every American League city. They'll play 20 games in all on the road, beginning with four singles with the Yankees, the first today. They'll play in Philadelphia and Washington before swinging West. It is their longest trip of the season, and their toughest. Before they return home for their Friday, June 13, night game with the White Sox, fans will have a pretty good idea whether or not they will repeat their '46 pennant victory.

Then it was that the poet laureate of the writers created his deathless parody to the tune of "neighborhood dance."

"We had a lead of 10 games, it seemed quite enough. But Oh, how it melted away," etc.

But Hughson beat Feller 1-0 in a night game to stop the skid, the Sox immediately picked up and went on to win the flag.

Despite the prowess of Cleveland and Detroit, it is always the Yanks the Sox fear most. Their series are always bitterly contested. They've split even in six games to date, all thrillers.

"I never feel safe with them until three men are out in the ninth inning," says Capt. Bobby Doerr, "especially if that feller Keller is swinging."

Harry Dorish, Cronin said, would open the series, and Hughson, Ferriss and Dobson will finish it.

The Sox were only ½ games off the lead as they began their odyssey today, and if they can come home only two or three games from the top they'll be in good position to make their stretch bid. They've done rather well on the road to date—8 and 6, 5 and 3 in the West.

Leslie "Tex" Aulds never went to college but the Sox rookie catcher was the nation's leading ground-gainer when he played halfback for the Randolph Field Texas eleven in '43. He played wingback and caught most of the passes thrown by Tulsa's Glenn Dodds against Rice et al. Dave Ferriss is his biggest booster and it was Ferriss who recommended him to the Sox as a catcher.

"Wait'll you see him run," says Ferriss. "As fast as McGah." If he doesn't see much service behind the bat at least he can pinch run. Yanks have to use ace Allie Reynolds for such duties.

Sox lost a sell-out crowd when Feller's game was rained out in Boston. Because of cold and rainy weather, the Sox home attendance is about 100,000 short of their '46 mark . . . Sox have lost only four games by rain and cold, Cleveland has lost 11. When the Sox were in Cleveland, Bill Veeck said nasty weather had cost him $150,000. Now, with the midget auto track being installed, Veeck faces further losses. Veeck wants no part of the midget track. Clevelanders say the brother of the district attorney is installing the track over Veeck's head.

Mayflower Skeet Club Invites Big Leaguers

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Big league ball players may sharpen their "batting aim" at the fields of the Mayflower Skeet Club, Holliston, in the near future. According to Sec. Walter Amesbury, an invitation has been extended by this organization of Boston gunners to all members of the Red Sox and Braves, as well as visiting teams, giving the athletes complete use of the skeet facilities.

Many of the ball players are enthusiastic skeet shooters, while Ted Williams is noted for his skill with both rifle and rod. The Mayflower Club feels that sighting a clay pigeon would act as an aid in "keeping those eyes on the ball," in addition to proving to be excellent relaxation for the bat wielders.

Speaking of shooting, The Rhode Island Trap Championship will be held tomorrow and Sunday, sponsored by the Tiverton Rod and Gun Club, on the fields which are about 1½ miles over the Fall River-Tiverton line, at the right side of the Newport hgwy. A registered shoot, it will be conducted rain or shine.

Saturday's events start at 10 a. m., commencing with the R. I. State Championship at Doubles, 50 pair—100 targets. The Handicap title, 100 targets, 17 to 23 yards, will be contested in the afternoon . . . Sunday will find the Amateur and All-Around Championships on the card . . . Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded.

The Mayflower skeet team will fly to Washington, D. C., today for the annual North-South shoot, sparked by Dick Shaughnessy, of Egypt. This ace marksman, incidentally, won a big trapshoot in New York recently, his initial attempt at this phase of the sport.

ANGLING ANGLES: Best fishing in the Braintree region appears to be for pickerel and perch. They're hitting well at the Dam, and in other ponds . . . Bill Freier, Braintree tackle shop operator, wants to know where the stripers are, for he has plenty of seaworms on hand . . . Carl Stiles, Brookline, took a four-pound square-tail, a five-pound salmon, and three other good salmon, trolling shiners in Newfound Lake, N. H., last week . . . Bill Walters, Melrose, landed a five-pound, three-ounce square-tail "near the Moose Horn River, Maine," which he has entered in the Field and Stream contest. His fish was 19¾ inches long, with a 13¾-inch girth.

MAIL CALL: Mrs. John Talkowski, Dorchester, writes to ask if worms in the flesh of yellow perch indicate a disease . . . No. Such intestinal vermin are common in perch at certain times of the year.

Another reader wishes to know if there is a market for fresh water turtles . . . As far as we can ascertain, there is not; however, we suggest contacting local market dealers on this subject . . . For several anglers, we repeat: The ice is out of the First and Second Connecticut Lakes.

19 Schools Compete for State Title

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Defending champion and the master of its own track, Newton High School will find more than one high bidder in the field for the Class A State championhip tomorrow afternoon at Dickinson Stadium, Newton where 19 teams will be disputing its right to a repetition of the title.

Class B's gigantic field of 44 schools—for an overall total of 738 individual entries—will be chasing the 1946 titlist, Weymouth, working without its captain, Dick Liva.

It's true that the host Orange and Black track forces have overshadowed its leading rivals in minor meetings this season but the victories read like a crazy barometer as far as Newton's stand in this State chase are concerned. English High will be strengthened by the return of Conrad Balfour; Medford High, working up to its real power, could toss in a few upsets; Lawrence, with its clever Frank Foucher, must be granted consideration.

Newton's concentrated strength must be considered in the shotputting with Kirby Kellar and Pete Connolly a one-two punch in normal meets. But this will be a different story with Roxbury Latin's defending champion Charlie Keith returning to shatter the monopoly. The same will hold true in the 880-yard run in which Newton's Dudley Shepard, powerful enough to win, will have to compete with the National AAU champion, Carl Joyce of Boston Commerce.

And so it will go down the line. Points that have previously been within easy reach of Coach Ed Boyle's club will be doubtful digits in this bigger field. There'll be a great split-up of points as some of the class A clubs (such as Commerce) send only one star into the competition, pointing for one first place. It's easy to see that Coach Boyle's prediction of a winner "with only 12 to 14 points" could ring true.

In Class B, there'll be an even more bitter "dogfight" in this grand finals before the split into three classes as planned next year. Weymouth, without Liva, may lack the punch to pull ahead of Belmont and Dedham in spite of its creditable showing in earlier outdoor pairings which found the club losing only to Brookline. Then, too, there are the Catholic school powerhouses—St. John's of Danvers and Central Catholic of Lawrence—to be considered.

As far as records are concerned, the two indoor favorites will probably be repeating in their specialties. Joyce of Commerce has shattered the existing State mark (held by Jim Taylor of Malden at 1:59.7) and he could repeat his 1:58 of the Reggies. Val Muscato of Concord, in Class B, will take another shot at the 440, to add this title to his National AAU honors.

Both won their events last season.

Relay pairings in A pitted: Malden vs. Somerville vs. Boston Latin vs. Boston Trade; Everett vs. Lowell vs. Brockton; Lawrence vs. B. C. H. vs. Lynn English; Boston Tech vs. Lynn Classical vs. Rindge Tech vs. Brookline; Medford vs. Boston English vs. Newton.

Class B pairings found: Mansfield vs. Sylvester vs. Norwood vs. Woburn; Watertown vs. Waltham vs. St. John's vs. Needham; Melrose vs. Wor. South vs. Gardner vs. Milton; New Bedford Voke vs. Wellesley vs. Wor. Commerce vs. Gloucester; Chelsea vs. Wor. Classical vs. New Bedford vs. Quincy; Assumption vs. Winthrop vs. Wor. North vs. Winchester; Lawrence Central vs. Haverhill vs. Lexington vs. No. Quincy; Mal. Catholic vs. Camb. Latin vs. Arlington vs. Weymouth; Dedham vs. Concord vs. Belmont vs. Jamaica Plain.

ADVANCE TIME

Because of the big field entered in the State Meet tomorrow afternoon, director Tom Hines has announced that running and field events will start simultaneously at 1 p. m. at Dickinson Stadium, Newton, instead of 1:30 as originally planned.

Winners in the State Meet events will qualify for the New England championship at this same field next month.

389 Duel In NE Meet

DURHAM, N. H., May 23 — Rhode Island State and Brown were the teams to beat as 20 colleges sent 389 individuals into competition in the 60th annual New England Intercollegiate track and field championships that started here today. Trials were to start at 4 o'clock today, while all finals will come tomorrow, starting at 2 o'clock.

The meet promised to be one of the best in history, since dozens of prewar stars have returned from service to join the current crop. No less than 25 former individual winners, including 10 from last year, were seeking titles along with 52 others who have been point winners.

Rhode Island State, which has won the sectional crown five times in the last nine years, has strength all along the line. Its possible winners included George Bullock in the quarter, Joe Hall in the half, Bob Black in the mile and two-mile, and Ed Dahl in both hurdles.

Brown's potential titlists were Bill Dwyer, defending in the dash; Dick Crossley in the hurdles, Paul Flick in the shot, Dick Phillips in the high jump, Milton Hodash in the javelin, and Bob Bennett in the hammer. Bennett was shooting for his own New England mark of 183 feet 10¾ inches, made in 1940 when he was competing for University of Maine. He was almost certain to break the Lewis Fields record of 179:3 held by New Hampshire's Matt Flaherty.

35 Midget Car Drivers Duel on Franklin Oval

Postponed last week, the new $15,000 seedway at Franklin Fair Grounds will open tomorrow night with at least 35-midget auto drivers moving into the floodlight competition under the sanction of the Bay State Midget Auto Racing Ass'n.

Among the drivers scheduled to wheel their cars onto the banked, macadam oval will be Oscar Ridlon, Roxbury; Bobby Blair, Dedham; Bob Foss, Lynn; Bill Randall, Reading, and Joe Sostilio, Natick. The opening event will get under way at 8 p. m.

MIDGET CARS TRY AGAIN

GROVELAND, May 23 — Rain postponed the midget auto races at the Pines Speedway here last night, until tomorrow night when a lengthy list of New England's best "jockeys" will be moving onto the track.

Huskies Play 2 in Maine

Northeastern's varsity baseball squad took to the road this morning. The Huskies are playing Colby at Waterville, Me., this afternoon and move on to Orono to meet University of Maine tomorrow. Today's game has considerable significance in the Greater Boston area, since Colby belted Boston College 21-5, last week. A decisive victory over the Huskies today will show that last week's score was no fluke.

Coach Herb Gallagher is taking his entire squad, so he will have a flock of pitchers from whom to choose. Bob Bagwell and Frank Rosato probably will be the first two choices, with Frank Watts as next in line.

Gallagher is pleased with the batting punch being shown by third-sacker Jim Tallent, who is now leading the club with a .364 average. Centerfielder Frank Rando has a .341 average, while Joe Lynch needs only a couple of bingles to bring him over .300.

The Huskies now have won three straight, so the line-up is pretty well set. Dave Churchly is a fixture at second base, while Steve Banakian and Dick Morrissey are holding up well in the outfield.

5 Harvard Teams Busy Tomorrow

Cornell at Soldiers Field at 2:30 o'clock. The other contests listed are variety and freshman lacrosse and tennis matches with Yale providing the opposition. The tennis matches are scheduled to start at 2:15 on Soldiers Field, while the lacrosse games will be held on the field behind the Harvard Business School at 3:30 o'clock.

Dolph Samborski's Crimson baseball nine is at the moment in second place in the league standings, with a record of five wins and three losses. The Big Red from Ithaca is the league cellar-dweller at present with but two wins against five defeats. Yale is the league leader with a 4-1 record.

An indication of Cornell's strength lies in the fact that the Big Red, coached by Mose Quinn, has a team batting mark of .305. No less than five Cornell regulars boast averages over .300. Harvard, on the other hand, has a team average of only .204, which puts them at the bottom of the league in team batting. Walt Coulson is the only Crimson regular hitting over .300.

The answer to the respective standings of the teams is the failure of the Cornell pitching staff to uphold its end in the team play to date.

The Harvard varsity and freshman tennis teams face their stiffest assignment of the season in Yale. The undefeated Eli varsity resides in first place in the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with five consecutive wins. Jack Barnaby's Crimson on the other hand has but one league win, a 6-3 effort over Dartmouth. Harvard will be further handicapped by the loss of Milt Heath, one of its better players who has been forced out of the Yale matches with an injured foot.

The Harvard varsity and freshman lacrosse teams will close their 1947 seasons against Yale. The varsity, coached by Bob Maddux has won six games and lost three over the course of its current schedule. It has defeated Drexel Institute, Tufts William M. I. T., New Hampshire and the Boston Lacrosse Club and lost to University of Maryland, Navy and

Higbe Makes Rickey Look Like Sly Old Fox

By The Associated Press

Kirby Higbe is making Branch Rickey look good. While the Dodger Mahatma eyes a $200,000 deposit in a Brooklyn trust company, Pittsburgh still scans the skies for Old Hig's first Pirate victory.

The pride of Columbia, S. C., has made four starts since he was bundled up with four other Dodgers and sold to Pittsburgh. A tie-game against St. Louis is his best showing.

Although Rickey was widely criticized for ruining the Brooks' pitching staff when he peddled Higbe, the failure of last year's Dodger ace in an enemy uniform has quieted the dissenters. Granted, Brooklyn pitching is in ragged condition but old Hig doesn't appear to be the missing link.

Some unkind souls have suggested the Pirates' Frank McKinney pulled a "boner" when he didn't buy Higbe's shadow, Hugh Casey, too. The Brooklyn innkeeper helped Hig out of many a hole last summer and was his better half early this season. As recently as Wednesday, Casey won from St. Louis, a feat Higbe failed to match last night.

Hig and Howie Pollet hooked up in a tight 1-1 duel for six innings at Sportsman's Park until the Cards unloaded four of their eight hits in a three-run seventh inning for a 4-1 decision. It was Pollet's first home win of the year and his second success of the season.

Card Manager Eddie Dyer, who has taken his lumps in the first month of the campaign after a storybook freshman season in which he won the pennant and the world championship, showed signs of the cellar strain in an argument with Umpire Art Gore. Dyer thought Whitey Kurowski was safe at first base in a close decision by Gore in the sixth inning. He said his piece so loudly with so many gestures that Gore banished him from the premises. It was the first time mild-mannered Eddie had been thumbed out this season.

The Cards' "big inning" consisted of singles by Joe Garagiola, Red Schoendienst, Terry Moore and Stan Musial and a passed ball, adding up to three runs. They had made the most of two walks by Higbe for a run in the sixth to match the Pirates' third-inning score off Pollet, Dixie Howell, Pirate catcher who came from Brooklyn in the Higbe deal, scored the lone Pittsburgh run after singling.

By a strange coincidence, the Cards' win gave them a season record of 10 won and 19 lost, exactly the same as the Browns who also occupy the cellar in the American League. They still are nine games below the .500 mark and seven full games behind the leading Chicago Cubs.

The St. Louis night game, witnessed by 14,035 fans, was the only game played in the majors. No other clubs were scheduled in the National and three scheduled games in the American were rained out, Detroit at New York, Cleveland at Boston and Chicago at Philadelphia.

COOL BOWLING

Bannerline Battle on WCOP and WLAW Tonight

Bettina is a squat southpaw, solidly built. Being low to the ground makes him hard to hit. Melio has enjoyed marked success since becoming a heavyweight and hopes to get closer to a title shot with the Brown Bomber by vanquishing Gus.

Lesnevich has successfully defended his title twice since his Coast Guard discharge. He chlorformed the British Empire champ and also kayoed Billy Fox. Gus knows how to jab and packs a hefty wallop.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. Stations WCOP (1150 on your dial) and WLAW (680 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

Babe on Way Back to N. Y.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 23 (AP) — Babe Ruth, baseball's home run king, left at 8:45 a. m. (EST) today for New York city after a three-week stay at the home of a friend, Raymond Kilthau.

Ruth, who came here in an effort to recuperate from a neck operation, was accompanied by his wife and a nurse and Kilthau.

The stay was his second here since April. He spent most of his time resting, fishing and playing an occasional game of golf.

"I have my good and bad days," he said earlier this week, and added that "I'm not feeling so well."

By The Associated Press

Kirby Higbe is making Branch Rickey look good. While the Dodger Mahatma eyes a $200,000 deposit in a Brooklyn trust company, Pittsburgh still scans the skies for Old Hig's first Pirate victory.

The pride of Columbia, S. C., has made four starts since he was bundled up with four other Dodgers and sold to Pittsburgh. A tie-game against St. Louis is his best showing.

Although Rickey was widely criticized for ruining the Brooks' pitching staff when he peddled Higbe, the failure of last year's Dodger ace in an enemy uniform has quieted the dissenters. Granted, Brooklyn pitching is in ragged condition but old Hig doesn't appear to be the missing link.

Some unkind souls have suggested the Pirates' Frank McKinney pulled a "boner" when he didn't buy Higbe's shadow, Hugh Casey, too. The Brooklyn innkeeper helped Hig out of many a hole last summer and was his better half early this season. As recently as Wednesday, Casey won from St. Louis, a feat Higbe failed to match last night.

Hig and Howie Pollet hooked up in a tight 1-1 duel for six innings at Sportsman's Park until the Cards unloaded four of their eight hits in a three-run seventh inning for a 4-1 decision. It was Pollet's first home win of the year and his second success of the season.

Card Manager Eddie Dyer, who has taken his lumps in the first month of the campaign after a storybook freshman season in which he won the pennant and the world championship, showed signs of the cellar strain in an argument with Umpire Art Gore. Dyer thought Whitey Kurowski was safe at first base in a close decision by Gore in the sixth inning. He said his piece so loudly with so many gestures that Gore banished him from the premises. It was the first time mild-mannered Eddie had been thumbed out this season.

The Cards' "big inning" consisted of singles by Joe Garagiola, Red Schoendienst, Terry Moore and Stan Musial and a passed ball, adding up to three runs. They had made the most of two walks by Higbe for a run in the sixth to match the Pirates' third-inning score off Pollet. Dixie Howell, Pirate catcher who came from Brooklyn in the Higbe deal, scored the lone Pittsburgh run after singling.

By a strange coincidence, the Cards' win gave them a season record of 10 won and 19 lost, exactly the same as the Browns who also occupy the cellar in the American League. They still are nine games below the .500 mark and seven full games behind the leading Chicago Cubs.

The St. Louis night game, witnessed by 14,035 fans, was the only game played in the majors. No other clubs were scheduled in the National and three scheduled games in the American were rained out, Detroit at New York, Cleveland at Boston and Chicago at Philadelphia.

Indians Toss Feller At Browns Tonight

CLEVELAND, May 23 (INS)—The Indians shoot the works tonight—Bob Feller, fireworks and a bid for second place—in the Tribe's first night game of the season at Cleveland's newly-christened Slop Stadium.

Bannerline Battle on WCOP and WLAW Tonight

Bettina is a squat southpaw, solidly built. Being low to the ground makes him hard to hit. Melio has enjoyed marked success since becoming a heavyweight and hopes to get closer to a title shot with the Brown Bomber by vanquishing Gus.

Lesnevich has successfully defended his title twice since his Coast Guard discharge. He chloroformed the British Empire champ and also kayoed Billy Fox. Gus knows how to jab and packs a hefty wallop.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. Stations WCOP (1150 on your dial) and WLAW (680 on your dial) at 10 p. m.

Babe on Way Back to N. Y.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 23 (AP) — Babe Ruth, baseball's home run king, left at 8:45 a. m. (EST) today for New York city after a three-week stay at the home of a friend, Raymond Kilthau.

Ruth, who came here in an effort to recuperate from a neck operation, was accompanied by his wife and a nurse and Kilthau.

The stay was his second here since April. He spent most of his time resting, fishing and playing an occasional game of golf.

"I have my good and bad days," he said earlier this week, and added that "I'm not feeling so well."

BRAVES-GIANTS PLAY BY PLAY

By FRED HOEY

BRAVES FIELD, May 23—A last-minute shift by Mel Ott sent Larry Jansen, his crack right-hander, to work against Si Johnson in the opener of the four-game series with the Giants this afternoon.

This series is vital to both clubs. The Giants are a half game away from the leading Cubs. And Ott's men have only a one-game edge over the Braves.

When Ott shifted from Kennedy to Jansen it caused a change in Billy Southworth's plans, too. It brings in his left-handed hitting crew. Bama Rowell, Johnny Hopp and Tommy Holmes, portside hitters, covered the outfield, Sibi Sisti returns to short in place of Dick Culler.

A real pitchers' battle is due in tomorrow's night game with two crack southpaws operating, Warren Spahn for the Braves and Monte Kennedy for the Giants. Ott also announced that Clint Hartung would pitch one of the games of Sunday's double header.

The Giants won, 8 -1.

FIRST SECOND THIRD

Yankees Crush Red Sox in N.Y.

NEW YORK, May 23—There was cotton in the ears and tape on the tongues of the Yankees here today as they prepared to meet the A. L. champion Red Sox in the first game of a series of four. They were feuding with Larry MacPhail over flying and attending banquets. Later it was learned the revolt apparently was settled. (Details on Page 59.)

The Yanks seat Allie Reynolds (3-3) to the hill today, and at the last time the Sox faced Reynolds they were held to two hits and no runs.

On the mound for the Sox was Harry Fritz Dorish (4-1), rookie who won three of his games in relief. Dom DiMaggio returned to center field for the first time in three games, and catcher Birdie Tebbetts made his debut in Sox flannels.

The day was ideal for baseball, and there were some 40,000 in the stands at game time, nearly half of them school children.

The Yankees won, 9 to 9.
